Mr. Connolly's Record.

Mr. Editor:—I have just a word to say through your paper in reference to the action of Mr. Connolly. He has been a democrat, a populist and I believe a socialist. He was undoubtedly a Coxeyite in 1893 for he said that he was ready to join a party that would go to Washington to kill the rulers of the nation. That was anarchistic if anything could be so but Mr. Connolly probably did not mean what he said. He has tried all parties and has finally resolved to be with the winners, probably relying upon securing a suitable reward in due time. His efforts in McKinley's behalf will no doubt bring him recognition from the republican leaders. If not it is difficult to see what party Mr. Connolly will next attach himself to, it may be the socialist labor party. But I want to state that Mr. Connolly does not truly represent labor nor do I believe that he speaks his own convictions.

LABOR.

Who are They?

And now comes the claim from Lowell that at least one half of the holders of liquor licenses are practically insolvent, but there will be no danger whatever, that should the city vote another year in favor of the license system, there will not be plenty of persons willing to pay the fee demanded and run the risk of the much advertised insolvency.—Lawrence Star.

BEWARE OF THE BRIDGE

MOODY ST. BRIDGE HAUNTED BY TOUGH CHARACTERS.

Girls Warned Not to Promenade There at Night—Not Even by Moonlight.

The new Moody street bridge and its immediate vicinity is acquiring a reputation as a place favorable for the commission of lawless acts, and, it seems the Police Board should offer additional protection to people who have occasion to pass that way.

THE SUN has been informed that scarcely a night passes but some breach of the law is attempted. Hold-ups by highwaymen have been such common occurrences there that residents and others who have occasion to go out at night in that vicinity carry a lantern to light them through the dark and lonesome ways. And the law-breakers who infest this place are no easy lot. They generally time their work, and pursue their operations when they know the police officer is not near at hand. They are a bold, bad set; for failing to secure plunder from a person they hold up they have not the slightest hesitation to inflict bodily-punishment upon the victim.

Several young ladies in passing this place are subjected to insults and in one or two cases were fortunate in escaping with only those indignities.

Such a desperate gang will stop at nothing, and, hence girls especially are cautioned against accepting invitations to promenade in that direction by moonlight or worse still without moonlight.

Many people, especially women pass the place at night and travel over the new bridge, because they are unaware of the dangerous characters who lurk there. More police protection is needed and should be given at once or else have the bridge closed up, until such times as it is opened as a thoroughfare and properly lighted.

THREE FIRE ALARMS

Call Out the Firemen Saturday Night.

A slight fire in a closet in the Nesmith block on Merrimack street caused an alarm from box 113 about 8 o'clock Saturday night. It caught in a lot of old rags from spontaneous combustion and did little damage.

While the republican parade was halting in Liberty square a lot of red fire and other fireworks material on one of Hanson's large drays exploded causing great excitement and setting fire to the wagon. The fire department was called by telephone but not until the wagon had been rendered unfit for use.

The members of the Chapel hill hose company were called about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon to extinguish a burning building owned by Michael Garrity. It was set by some children.

MOST DASTARDLY ASSAULT

UPON AN OLD MAN BY A PARADER

On Saturday Night—An Ugly Wound Inflicted by a Blow of a Heavy Bell.

A cowardly case of assault upon a decrepit old man took away all credit from the republican demonstration in the minds of hundreds of people on Saturday night. It happened on Prescott street about 11.30 p. m., when hundreds were running and crowding to catch the cars for the suburbs. Among them was an aged man named Fox, residing in North Chelmsford, bent and feeble with age and afflicted with an infirmity which affects his sight. Being a loyal republican he came in to see the parade and with the others hustled to the best of his ability to get to his car. And in so doing he ran against or in the way of a parader who assaulted him in a most cowardly manner.

Whether Mr. Fox stepped on his assailant's feet or jostled him as he passed is not known. The fact is however, that this cowardly parader turned on the old man and struck him a savage blow with some kind of a bell, presumably a cowbell, just on the top of the nose, directly between the eyes, inflicting an ugly cut from which the blood streamed all over the face of the inoffensive old gentleman. The blow staggered Mr. Fox and for some time he didn't know what had happened him. Kind hands, however, assisted him to a drug store and after a time he was taken home.

His assailant started away but was caught by spectators and held for a few minutes, and then to the surprise of all was allowed to go, even by a police officer without being arrested. The only description that bystanders could give was that he wore the uniform of the Boys in Blue.

POLICE NOTES.

Considering the fact that there was a republican jollification Saturday night the number of drunks arrested, 25, is quite light. There were few cases other than drunks.

A drunk arrested by Officer Crowley Saturday said that his home was in Belfast, Ireland; that he lived in Edinburgh Square, had property in Skibbereen, owned a lot in London, and was a member of the Queen's Own. He had on a suit of underclothing, over which he wore overalls and a jumper, and over these he wore two complete suits of clothing. He insisted that he was arrested on suspicion of being drunk, and claimed that Officer Jack Crowley was the best man in the world.

CHELMSFORD-GRANITEVILLE.

Business is Booming in Both of These Places.

The Abbot Woolen mills at Graniteville and Forge Village started up this morning on full time and with their full quota of operatives.

The scouring room in Moore's mills at North Chelmsford is running both day and night and there is talk among the villagers that Mr. Moore intends to make additions to his plant.

Police Court—Hadley J.

Judge Hadley and William J. Bryan agree on one point, namely: That the will of the people is law and must prevail. In sentencing John Fitzgerald to jail for four months for having obstructed an officer in the performance of his duty, His Honor said: "Police officers represent the law, the will of the people and through their instrumentality the law is enforced. As such they shall be respected and the sooner that certain portions of our population realize this the better for the community at large. Fitzgerald appealed.

Edward Latumble who was arrested while fighting was fined $10. Lawrence Martin received six months in jail. Michael Reddington received four months and appealed.

The dam of this bull is Narletta 78402, she being by Oonan's Tormentor, the sire of Oonan of Riverside, 34 lbs. 3 oz., and 8 others in the list. This bull was purchased by A. L. Parkhurst of Ridgefield, Wash. A heifer by Tonnage 20000 out of Daretta 62579, test 16 lbs. 8 oz., has been bought by W. K. Pickens of Livingston, Ala., and a bull by Chromo 26113 out of Miss Helen Brice 88340, test 15 lbs., has gone to J. H. Wright of Meridian, Miss.

To Aid Countrymen.

Eighty-five Armenians held a meeting last night and raised $150 for the support of seven of their fellow countrymen who were concerned in the uprising in Constantinople when the Ottoman bank was threatened, and who are believed to be in South America.

The Tiber's Recklessness.

St. John's, N. F., Nov. 9.—Further disclosures concerning the marine tragedy here indicate that after the steamer Tiber abandoned all efforts to save the victims of the collision with the schooner Maggie, just beyond the entrance of the harbor, Friday night, she continued her voyage, and within half an hour nearly ran down another vessel, which escaped only by the merest chance.

Wants Damages From Germany.

Paris, Nov. 9.—Sidney Odanna has arrived in Paris and intends to bring an action in the French courts against the German embassy, claiming 37,650,000 francs damages. Odanna has just finished a term in prison, in Berlin, on a charge of intriguing to bring about war between France and Germany. He contends that he was unjustly sentenced.

AFTER THE BATTLE ROYAL

Kentucky Said to Have Given McKinley a Plurality.

Senator Blackburn's Successor Will be a Republican—Mark Hanna Compliments the Gold Democrats for Carrying Indiana —Other Matters Political.

Louisville, Nov. 9.—The following telegram was sent yesterday by Samuel J. Roberts, chairman of the Republican state campaign committee, to M. A. Hanna, at New York: "Practically complete official returns make our majority 500 in Kentucky. We polled 40,000 more votes for McKinley that Governor Bradley received, but fusion and fraud almost robbed us of victory. We have been sleeping on our arms for a week, but are now out of danger."

Mr. Roberts also sent the following telegram to Mr. McKinley: "Kentucky, for the first time in its history, has been carried by the Republicans in a presidential year. After four days of anxious watching and waiting, the official returns show you have carried the state by about 500 plurality. Four years ago, Kentucky gave Cleveland 40,000 plurality, and cast 23,500 Populist votes. The fusion of Populists and Democrats this year was complete, and your victory means a reversal of 64,000 votes, based on the figures of 1892. On behalf of Kentucky Republicans and thousands of patriotic Democrats, who joined in our common cause, permit me to congratulate you on your great victory and the breaking of a time-honored record in Kentucky. As a former townsman and devoted admirer for 20 years, it is scarcely necessary to add my personal congratulations."

The following statement was given out last night from the Republican headquarters: Practically complete official returns give McKinley 444 plurality in Kentucky, unofficial advices indicating that the four missing counties will increase rather than decrease these figures. The Republicans elect four members of congress, and a judge of the highest court of the state for an eight-year term, and by the filling of vacancies have secured a majority of two in the general assembly on joint ballot, which insures a Republican successor to Senator Blackburn.

The total vote in the state will approximate 425,000, an increase of 70,000 over last year's vote, and 25,000 more than the highest estimate before the election. The Republican vote increased about 40,000 over Governor Bradley's vote a year ago, which was 17,000 higher than ever before cast in a presidential election, and the Democratic vote was 29,000 higher. These figures will give some idea of the intensity of the political struggle through which Kentucky just passed.

There is no longer any talk of the Republicans uniting with the Gold Democrats on Carlisle, Breckenridge or any other Democrat, to succeed Senator Blackburn. All negotiations and talk to this effect were based on the possibilities of another deadlock. Now that the Republicans are confident of a majority on joint ballot, they state that a Republican will be elected senator. Governor Bradley, Congressmen Hunter, St. John, Boyle and others are mentioned for the place.

THE "HONOR DEMOCRATS."

Not Likely to Be Soon Forgotten For Services They Rendered.

New York, Nov. 9.—Mark Hanna has given the following outline of what he understood to be President-elect McKinley's general policy:

"I have had but comparatively brief conversations with Major McKinley since his election. Next week I expect to meet him at Cleveland, and, as he has had time to think over matters, I presume he will have more details than I am at present aware of. But this much I know, he feels that he owes much to the patriotic Democrats, who prefer principle to strict party ties. Indiana, for instance, was unquestionably carried against fusion by Democratic votes. He recognizes the very great service performed by Democrats and independent newspapers during the campaign.

"Major McKinley will endeavor to see collected a great national party that will give prosperity to the country. He expects and hopes that men of all shades of former political belief will be united to this end. I have talked with some of the most influential of the old Democratic leaders, and I am glad to say they are in accord with Major McKinley's hopes.

"The first movement he will make will be to obtain sufficient revenue to conduct the government. Further issues of bonds would be altogether too dangerous. Business prosperity and stability demand that as soon as possible the government should be on a paying basis. To this end an extra session of congress will be necessary, and President McKinley will undoubtedly call one soon after his inauguration.

"Legislation will be required to secure the desired revenue, and Mr. McKinley will do everything in his power to secure it, as well as the legal establishment of a policy which will tend to put everybody at work. In all this he hopes, and expects that he will be backed by patriotic men, regardless of party lines. As for myself, I am not after any office, and will endeavor to attend to private business affairs, which need my personal supervision."

Mr. Hanna was asked what Democrats of note he had talked with on the subject of the future. "I do not wish to name them all," he said, "but I may mention Messrs. W. C. Whitney and Abram S. Hewitt, as examples."

Didn't Miss Church Services.

Canton, O., Nov. 9.—The opening of morning services in the First Methodist church yesterday found Major McKinley in his accustomed pew, with a number of friends. Last evening, Dr. Manchester, Major McKinley's pastor, in his prayer invoked divine blessings on the President of the United States and those elevated to exalted positions, and referring to the president-elect, in the congregation, invoked the blessings of providence upon him and those about to be called to council with him. Mrs. McKinley is feeling much better, and was able to go to dinner in the dining room with her husband and their guests. Congratulatory telegrams and letters continue to pour in upon the president-elect.

Hanna "Treats" Newspaper Men.

New York, Nov. 9.—Mark A. Hanna gave a dinner Saturday night to the newspaper men who had regularly "covered" national headquarters, either in New York or Chicago during the campaign. A little gold and silver ship was provided for each person present, as a souvenir. There was also presentel to each of the guests a gold medal, the size of a 20-dollar piece, with the name of the recipient, and the fact that it was presented by the national committee inscribed on it, and also the words: "McKinley and Hobart, Sound Money and Protection."

Red Men Celebrated.

Pender, Neb., Nov. 9.—The Winnebago Indians in Thurston county have grown enthusiastic over the election returns, and revelled in a gorgeous feast and Indian dance on the reservation Saturday night. Many were in Pender, buying McKinley and Hobart buttons, to celebrate with. Colored banners, bearing the inscription "McKinley and Sound Money," were exhibited during the several dances to the tune of the tom-tom, in the hands o fthe dusky maidens. The feast and dance continued until the break of day.

Official Canvass Necessary.

Yankton, S. D., Nov. 9.—With the state complete, except Hamlin and McPherson counties, and unorganized counties in the Sioux reservation, Bryan has a plurality in South Dakota of 45. Hamlin and McPherson counties will give McKinley pluralities, while the reservation counties are expected to go for Bryan. It will take the official canvass to settle South Dakota's electoral vote.

Looks Like McKinley.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 9.—It is estimated that returns from 1200 voters are to be received from the Big Horn country. As this section is exclusively devoted to sheep raising, it is claimed by the Republicans that its returns will give the state to McKinley, without a doubt.

Nebraska's Cabinet Candidate.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 9.—The live-stockmen of Omaha and Kansas City, and the west generally, have inaugurated a campaign to secure for "Farmer" Samuel Allerton the position of secretary of agriculture in Mr. McKinley's cabinet.

Talking of Retaliation.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—A book written by E. Von Halle, dedicated to the government, has been published. It surveys the importance of the American elections toward Germany, and assumes that a fairly prohibitive tariff will be passed by the next congress, and, in view of the fact that Germany, in 1895, imported American goods to the value of 511,000,000 marks, he proposes that early steps be taken to counteract the injury to German industry. He advocates denouncing the most favored nation clause, and passing a tariff paragraph, and also to try, in the main, to co-operate with the rest of Europe and take sweeping retaliatory measures against America. The government has taken notice of the book, and a score of copies have been bought for use in the different departments of the foreign office.

Four Days of Misery.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Seven men and one woman, composing the crew of the schooner Rising Star, after drifting in a helpless condition on a leaking vessel down storm-lashed Lake Michigan for four days, was towed into port by the steamer Colin Campbell. The schooner's crew had given up all hope, and, worn with fatigue and exposure to the icy blast, were clinging to the rigging when the Campbell sighted their signals of distress. The boat drifted helplessly out of the path of lake travel, and it was by mere chance that the Colin Campbell sighted the wreck. The members of the crew, although suffering terribly from cold and hunger, will recover.

Looks Like Prejudice.

London, Nov. 9.—The Daily Mail continues its interesting letters from the correspondent of that paper who is visiting various American states. It devotes the last letter to California, in connection with which, the correspondent says: "The people of the Pacific slope are living in a country that has very manifestly ways and a will of its own. They have adapted themselves and their environment to what it seems good to them to do, and that they do. With many of them, fancy goes no farther than wearing black shirts. With others, it takes stronger flights, and soars to clearing out banks and holding up mail coaches."

Italians' Awful Vengance.

Huntingdon, Penn., Nov. 9.—During a drinking bout between Italians at Robertsdale, a mining town, Peter Venzelona was brutally murdered. His four slayers were lodged in jail here. The alleged murderers used iron pins and stones on their victim, whose head was literally beaten into a jelly. Jealousy over a girl is said to have promoted the crime.

LOWELL I. B. BANQUET

DEDICATION OF THE HALL IN THE McCARTHY BUILDING.

A Postprandial Program of Musical and Literary Exercises With Speeches Upon the Society, Its Progress and Its Good Work, Present and Past.

The Lowell Irish Benevolent society dedicated its new hall in the McCarthy building on Palmer street, Saturday night, by a banquet followed by an entertainment and speeches.

President John J. Driscoll opened the exercises with a neat speech. He traced the prosperity of the society, showed the work it is doing and referred at some length to what it had done.

Vice President Reilly followed in a similar strain and gave reminiscenses of how the members enlisted when the call came for men to go the front in the civil war.

John Whitty related anecdotes of the early days of the society, giving an account of stirring events in war times and the bravery of Irish soldiers at home and abroad.

James Howard, the secretary of the society, served as toastmaster and filled the place with much efficiency.

Rev. Fr. Leonard was called upon and responded at some length, talking very interestingly upon adherence to right principles at all times in face of every difficulty.

Rev. Fr. Gleason representing Rev. Michael O'Brien, the spiritual director of the society, responded in a congratulatory strain, complimenting the society on its benevolent work, its fraternal good feeling and its good example.

Fr. Gleason expressed gratification at the grand success and prosperous career that this grand old organization has always enjoyed. He touched on their annual fete which was looked forward to every year by the Lynn as well as Lowell folk and congratulated the members on their union with both the people of the city and their church. No society can show the record of benevolent deeds and good works done by this organization during its noble career and although always loyal to their church the members were none the less loyal to their country as so well shown by the membership roll wherein appear many, many names that were prominently connected with the civil war.

In closing Fr. Gleason wished them many long years of success in the future, and hoped they would continue their good work.

John J. Hogan, Esq., being called upon dwelt upon the importance of young men taking up the work where their seniors have left it in order to perpetuate the work of the society. His remarks were loudly applauded. He also spoke for the city in the absence of Mayor Courtney.

Songs and recitations followed. Those who participated in the exercises being: James McManus, John Kennedy, Mr. McDermott, James Mulligan, Denis F. Regan, James Howard, T. H. Brennan, John Murphy and others.

Mr. Murphy is a member of the Burkes' glee club and has a strong baritone voice apparently capable of great development.

The committee in charge of the arrangements consisted of President Driscoll, James Howard, J. J. Grady, Denis F. Regan, John Whitty, Frank E. McNabb and James Hylan.

The hall is neat and cosy, consisting of an assembly hall with several committee rooms adjoining. The society has had quarters in the Burkes' building.

SACRED CONCERT

Held for the Humane Society Last Evening.

The sacred concert in aid of the Humane society at Music hall last evening drew a fair sized attendance who greatly enjoyed the fine program presented. The features of the entertainment were the singing of Miss Bessie Lee, Mr. Henry E. Jackson and Mr. Ollie Hall. The last named possesses a remarkably deep and powerful bass voice and his rendition of the celebrated ballad "Sweet Refrain" was excellent. Mr. Hall makes a hit wherever he goes with his sweet singing.

LOCAL POLITICS

Statesmen Turn Attention to Municipal Election

GOSSIP ABOUT MAYOR'S POWER NEXT YEAR.

Candidates and Others—The Council and Mayoralty.

☞ ANY MAN pretending to be a democrat who, in public print or otherwise, opposes the election of a regular democratic nominee, or who repeatedly votes in the city council for republican candidates as against competent and worthy democrats, is a POLITICAL TRAITOR of the kind known in politics as A CUCKOO. No such man has any claim upon the democratic party for a nomination or election to any office.

Now that the national election is over the politicians turn their attention to municipal affairs. There are but few places open to democratic candidates in the city government so we'll have the republican gerrymandered the wards. The chief officials to be elected at large are the mayor and the purchasing agent, a new official provided for under the revised charter. There is nothing to prevent democrats from voting fairly upon these officials. There is no republican majority standing between the democratic party and success. The national and state election cannot be looked upon as showing the strength of the party because hundreds, aye thousands of democrats voted with the republicans under intimidation or the belief that by so voting they would best secure work during the winter.

They know that the corporations held back work, and kept mills idle when they could run them profitably, just as a means of coercing operatives into supporting the republican party.

There will be no such coercion in force at city election and nothing to prevent democrats from electing both the officials mentioned.

In order to succeed, the voters will have to attend the caucuses in full force, they will have to select a candidate who will receive his full party vote, and that means a candidate who at all times has been loyal to his party, one who has not in any case either publicly or privately opposed the democratic nominees in favor of republican nominees. To nominate a man who has been known repeatedly thus to betray his party will only bring defeat, because the democratic voters will not support him and they have no right to support him.

This is the only safe rule to follow in making nominations if the democratic party is to be held together as a party. Punish disloyalty, reward loyalty and party service and then no member of the cuckoo tribe will come around to seek election on with the purpose of betraying those who elected him when once installed in office.

There is a big question to be settled in that controversy over the meaning of the city charter as to whether it gives the mayor the power of appointing all paid officials. If the republicans should elect a mayor they would claim that power for him, but if they fail they will claim that it belongs to the city council.

From the Mail we clip the following story giving inside facts of how western states were carried for McKinley as told by an American in London:

The St. James Budget published a letter from an American who declares that the true inwardness of the defeat of Mr. Bryan was the use of money to turn the farmer vote of the central west. The writer states that the insurance companies owning mortgages on farms in Iowa, Indiana, Illinois and neighboring states directed their agents to see every farmer whose lands were mortgaged and offer to them, if Mr. McKinley should be elected, a five years extension of the mortgages at a low rate of interest.

This plan succeeded and Mr. Bryan, who otherwise would have been elected, was defeated. Continuing, the American says that the loss of interest to the companies will be great, but that they expect to sell here a mass of depreciated securities on the boom from which London is benefiting.

Mr. Fred E. Haines, proprietor of the Middlesex Steam laundry, is a candidate for the republican nomination for the common council in Ward 1.

Arthur W. Lang of the firm of Boothby & Lang, is a candidate for the common council in Ward 8.

James L. Campbell, formerly editor of the Times, is receiving strong republican endorsement for the office of purchasing agent.

Councilman John E. Sullivan has decided to withdraw from the contest for the common council in Ward nine. He has served his party faithfully and only the republican majority in that ward prevents him from acceding to the requests of his friends to enter the fight.

"Bill" Hayes says it is preposterous to think that our people should for a moment suppose the amendment to the charter gives the mayor the right to autocratically appoint the heads of departments. Then William says that should any dispute arise, the people must not run to lawyers or courts for an interpretation of the law but should go to the legislature and "we will make short work of it." You bet you will; but it depends on whether we have a republican or democratic mayor as to what kind of a settlement will be made. Should a republican mayor be elected Mr. Hayes would soon change his tune. He would then hold that the charter gave His Honor the full power of appointment and that it was so intended by the legislature.

Councilmen Thornton and O'Hare, Michael E. Sullivan, John J. Rourke and John H. Sheehan are among the councilmanic candidates in Ward 5. Others will enter the race in a few days. Jeremiah McGlinchey, Owen E. Brennan and Daniel O'Brien would like to serve on the board of overseers of the poor. Up to date there is no opposition to Hugh Farley, who wants a re-election to the school board.

Thomas Higgins of Ward 2, who made a good run for the council last year, will try again this year and his friends look for his success this time.

The Lawrence Star comments thus on our new charter: "Lowell has adopted an amendment to its city charter giving somewhat larger powers to the mayor and providing for a department of public supplies. The taxpayers up there fondly anticipate that this will reduce the current expenditures of the city one third. Mistaken souls; they will learn by and by that a reduction in the expenses of any municipality are to be made by economy in management through good officials, and not to be brought about by a mere change in system.

On Nov. 19 the democratic caucuses will be held to choose delegates to the mayoralty convention. The voters will take care not to waste any votes upon any man who has been disloyal to the democratic party. The man who openly works for republican candidates in opposition to democratic nominees, deserves no preferment from democrats.

Democrats in your coming municipal election, give your support only to men who have stood by you and your party. Do not be misled into supporting a candidate of the genus cuckoo, no matter how much he may be disguised or how he may endeavor to cover up his treachery.

The two candidates in the mayoralty contest on the democratic side are Mayor Courtney and Fisher H. Pearson. One of them will be nominated by the convention.

Mr. John J. Rourke, a popular resident of Lyon street, is a candidate for the common council on the democratic ticket in ward five.

REPUBLICAN POLICIES OUTLINED.

The Middlesex republican club at its meeting in Boston Saturday afternoon gave the first outline of the policy to be followed by the Hanna-McKinley administration during the next four years.

The speakers were men who stand high in the councils of the republican party, Senator Lodge, ex-Gov. Boutwell, Attorney General Knowlton, Congressman Barrett and the recently "Generalized" George A. Marden.

The concensus of opinion as gathered from the addresses delivered seemed to favor the prompt passage of a new tariff law, the annexation of Hawaii, the recognition of Cuba's belligerency and the making all import duties payable in gold. Congressman Barrett made a very specific statement on the tariff question in claiming that republicans will not pass again the Dingley bill. They want something more substantial, something that will recoup the men who contributed so many millions of dollars for Hanna's campaign. Mr. Barrett also undertook to state that the republicans will pursue a firm and aggressive policy, one that will be strictly republican throughout and that will take no recognition of the democratic faction that joined the republican party in fighting for the gold standard. On this point Mr. Barrett made what might be considered a humiliating admission when he said:

"I think that if the government that is to come during the next four years shall pass laws and pursue policies which have their centre in Washington and nowhere else on earth and which are dictated simply to win the approval and the respect of the American people, we shall be successful in the political campaigns that are to follow.

This is virtually an admission that the policies of the republican party, especially on the monetary question, have centred outside the United States. By this he undoubtedly meant that our present monetary system has its centre in Lombard street, London. Mr. Barrett wants only republicans on guard and he is not in favor of recompensing gold democrats by places or power in lieu of what they have done for McKinley in the campaign.

This may have reference to the rumor that General Buckner is slated for a prominent position under the McKinley administration.

"Gen." Marden differed from some of the other speakers in his estimate of the "Americanism" which carried the election for McKinley. It had been stated that the republican victory was a great triumph for native or genuine Americans as opposed to the "riff-raff" of foreign nations.

Mr. Marden, however, pointed out that where the foreign element was strongest, as in Boston, Chicago and New York, the majorities for the republican ticket were largest, while the communities which had the largest percentage of native population went the most strongly for Bryan. This is a little discrepancy which the Middlesex club could have very easily explained as the natural result of an appeal to foreign nations opposed to a determination to act independently of foreign nations in conducting our national finances.

Senator Lodge was rather non-committal in regard to the policy to be followed by the party; but in common with the other speakers he insisted upon the expediency of retrieving all the doubtful states by placing them solidly in the republican column. To do this he will of course accept the proposition of Mark Hanna to maintain permanent republican headquarters and to keep up a continuous fight against free silver. Mr. Hanna has been out since election day consulting the millionaires of the country in regard to what they want and what policy they wish to be followed during the next four years. It is stated that although Hanna has been mentioned for secretary of the treasury, he will forego that honor and assume the more influential role of national boss of the republican party and of the whole United States. With Hanna as the guiding spirit of the administration, the trusts and the combines, the syndicates and the speculators will be well cared for and the only prosperity for which the people can hope will be that alone which will result from legislation designed to benefit the rich.

AN IMPENDING CRISIS

WE ARE ON THE EVE OF GREAT ECONOMIC REVOLUTION.

It Appears That the Seeds of Discontent With Unjust Conditions Have Taken Root—The "Silver Question" Is Trivial, but the Movement May Mean Much.

[Special Correspondence.]

I have just received a lengthy letter from an old coworker, who discusses the political situation as he sees it, and in addition to his ideas of the probable results of the election tells me frankly, as an old friend, what he believes the future has in store, especially for the workers. The writer of this letter has been for 25 years a firm and untiring champion of the cause of labor—a student as well as an active leader. He is also a painstaking statistician. The exercise of these qualities have, in my judgment, equipped him with the power to diagnose the economic condition of the people and to prophesy with reasonable certainty as to what the working classes may hope for in the future.

While the letter was not written for publication, I feel impelled to print a portion of it, trusting that my motives in so doing may not be misconstrued. I believe the workingmen of the country should know how the veteran workers and thinkers in the labor movement feel, and by withholding the name of my correspondent I protect him from notoriety, which he has not courted. I quote:

"We are living in a distinctly formative period, and nothing, in my judgment, can stop the impending crisis.

"Independent of the merits or demerits of the silver question, this is certainly one of the greatest campaigns you and I ever witnessed in the United States, and I am now fully convinced that we are standing on the eve of worldwide changes in our economic and industrial life. No matter whether Bryan is elected or not, we are approaching the rapids with a momentum that is startling. If Bryan is elected and the remonetization of silver is accomplished, we will perhaps find that it has not brought us all of the amelioration desired. But the spirit of the age, and particularly that of the silver movement, is not to go backward, to again adopt and wear the old clothes which we have discarded as the panacea. I imagine the word will be "Forward," and that new experiments will be tried. In other words, we will have the beginning of a political policy that, in some form or another, will mark a crusade against corporate and privileged wealth such as the world never saw. On the other hand, if McKinley is elected, I am sure that protection and maintenance of the gold standard will not bring this country prosperity, and, if they persist in continuing conditions just as they are, four years hence we will have the flood.

"The spirit of the age, particularly in the south and west, is not the spirit of slavish subjection, but it is the lofty and determined desire to reach out for a higher and better social life. It cannot be lulled to sleep.

"You and I have been sowing the seeds of a holy discontent for many years. We have told the workers that this earth and the fullness thereof is theirs. The signs of the times indicate that we have not sown in vain. Everywhere there is a quickening hope and thought for a better time. The line which divides the parasite from the producer is becoming more and more distinct, and as I observe the present disintegration, confusion and political acrimony my soul leaps with joy, because, no matter how dark and troublesome the times may be through which we are destined to pass, it is the precursor of a new birth, which, amid the darkness and storms, will herald in the new and better day.

"Whether you and I shall see it matters not. Our joy and thanksgiving should be in the consciousness of knowing that it is coming. It is because of this that I so ardently support the silver movement. I know there are some in our ranks who cavil about the silver question and say that it does not go far enough. They do not seem to realize that it is the movement and not the question which is cutting such a deep furrow. They forget that when the founders of the American republic, more than 100 years ago, began their colonial war against Great Britain they originally had no idea that the contest would lead to a severance from the mother country. They simply declared that taxation without representation was a tyranny and refused to submit any longer until this injustice was remedied. But, the contest begun, the logic of political events swept onward and ultimately dictated the Declaration of Independence, which severed the tie that bound the colonies to Great Britain and carved out of the western world the republic in which we live.

"Again, when the Republican party in 1860 nominated Abraham Lincoln and declared that the institution of slavery should not go beyond a certain geographical line, William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips and their colaborers did not take very kindly to a declaration which simply attempted to fence up and limit the iniquities of an institution that should have been boldly assailed as a matter of principle and its overthrow asked for unqualifiedly.

"But we know that the action of the Republican party at that time brought about the same political disintegration that is manfested today. It acted as a line of battle that separated the contestants. And when the civil war was precipitated, no thought on the part of the large mass of our people was entertained that the outcome of the war would be the overthrow of chattel slavery. Indeed, had such a proposition been broached by the officials of our government during the first year or so of the rebellion, thousands of Union soldiers would have abandoned the field and declined to risk their lives for the 'freeing of niggers.' But as the conflict continued the exigencies of the situation—yes, the logic of events—overpowered prejudice, and the emancipation of the negro was dictated as a military necessity. Is history to repeat itself?

"Who can tell but that today in this great country we are again standing on the eve of a political epoch the farreaching importance of which will transcend all of the political events of the past, and that the movement for the remonetization of silver, apparently so conservative and innocent, is but the precursor of a revolution in our economic and social life the magnitude of which is scarcely dreamed of by the most optimistic student of social problems?"

I have refrained during this campaign from writing for the labor press anything that could be construed as "political," and, as the people have been little interested in any other subject, that means that I have not written much during the past three months. I fully appreciate the fact that the evident partiality shown in the letter of my friend for one side in the present political controversy will expose me to the charge of insinuating "politics" into the labor press, but I ask all those who support the cause of the wageworker to wipe the dust of prejudice out of their eyes and look at the matter here presented as it bears upon the laborer without reference to any party or all parties. There is undoubtedly a crisis in our affairs. The future not only of the labor movement, but of the laborer himself, is in the balance, and the man who hesitates now to express his honest convictions, regardless of the side upon which he stands is not and never will be of much use in the struggle for the emancipation of the wage slave. Let us be open with each other, giving to all a fair hearing, and then making a decision—without dangerous delay—present a united front in the conflict which is on between the producers and their despoilers.

In this spirit, trying to serve this purpose to some slight degree, I ask a careful consideration of my friend's letter.

JOS. R. BUCHANAN.

Co-operating Against Sweatshops.

A new movement has started to combat the sweating system and the downward tendency of wages in the clothing trades. The Church Association For the Advancement of the Interests of Labor has held an investigation and embodied the result in a report to the Central Labor union. Bishop Potter is prominent in this work. The report says:

"In a recent investigation by a factory inspector a sweatshop room was found measuring 12½ feet in width, 15 feet long and with a ceiling only 6 feet above the floor. In this room were employed four men, two boys (one 16 and the other 19) and three girls. The number was twice as large as the law allows in a room of these dimensions. With several machines and tables in the apartment, the workers were literally packed in, and some of them had to sit so close that they jostled each other as they worked."

The report said children recovering from scarlet fever had been employed to remove basting threads from garments afterward sold over the country. Smallpox patients had been found sleeping on piles of garments in sweatshops. The reason given for the downward tendency of wages was the increasing demand for cheap clothing.

Delegate Lawrence of the Clothing Cutters' union supplemented the report by a statement that the clothing trades were in a bad way. The Central Labor union decided to co-operate with the association.—New York News.

Bakeshop Legislation.

The most conspicuous feature of the movement in the baking trade this year and last, says John Schudel, assistant secretary of the Journeymen Bakers and Confectioners' International union, was the passage of laws for clean and sanitary bakeshops in the legislatures of five states—New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Maryland and Massachusetts. These laws, which are the fruit of persistent and intelligent agitation on the part of the Bakers' union, prescribe the height of the shop, good ventilation, etc., and limit the hours of work for the journeymen to 60 per week. The state of New York was the first to pass a bakeshop law, and this is mostly due to the exertion of the international secretary, Henry Weismann. This law, which was amended and improved this year, was passed in 1895. This success smoothed the road, and it was a comparatively easy task to have similar laws enacted in other states.

This Is Our Civilization.

It is a most remarkable fact—indeed, we may say unparalleled paradox—that in a country in which food is cheaper and more abundant than in any other country in the world, in which civilization is further advanced, and the comforts and luxuries of life more easily attained, there is a great and growing army of ablebodied, homeless, friendless, hungry men and a still greater number of destitute, dependent women and children.

There are hundreds of men in Chicago who have had nothing to eat today except what they have been able to cull from the refuse of restaurant tables or to pick out of garbage barrels. There are hundreds who tonight will find no better lodging than an empty boxcar on the lake front, a delivery wagon, an empty drygoods box or the shelter of a heap of rubbish.—Dr. J. H. Kellogg, Chicago.

Paternalism In New Zealand.

A bill before the New Zealand legislature provides that every citizen aged 65 or upward who has been a resident in the province for the preceding 20 years or more shall be entitled to a life pension of 10 shillings a week upon application. The premier talks of introducing state pawnshops. A bill for a statutory half holiday for domestic servants has already received its second reading.

How the Mohammedan Year Corresponds With Ours.

The Mohammedan year, as a lunar year, is shorter than ours by 10 days, 21 hours and 14 2-5 seconds. This renders an exact transfer of Mohammedan dates into dates of our own calendar a very difficult task. One calculation, which is easy and almost accurate, is to deduct 3 per cent from the given Mohammedan year and to add 622 to the sum thus obtained—e. g., our year 1862 A. D. corresponded to 1279 of the Hegira. If from this we deduct 3 per cent, or about 39, and add 622 to the result, we have the number 1862.

THE BIG ARIZONA KICKER

POLICY OF EDITOR AND SAMPLES OF HIS ADVERTISING.

Not Alarmed About the Future of America or Arizona—Under Certain Conditions the Editor Could Be Prevailed Upon to Bolt Any Candidate on Earth.

In reply to many letters and verbal queries we would say that The Kicker is not a redhot party organ. Nominally we are a Democrat. Nominally number two, we are a Republican. We hold the postmastership under a Democratic administration, and we desire to hang on to it. To most readers it may seem that our policy is a selfish one. We grant it. We are taking care of number one in politics as well as in business. The Arizona editor who blows his horn for the sake of party will carry more deadheads on his subscription books than dollars in his pocket. We want some of the spoils. We do not propose to help waft a lot of ambitious, selfish and half dishonest critters into office and then take off our hat and be thankful for what loose change they may toss us. We haven't said anything about bolting, but it may be inferred that we'd throw a candidate down quicker than a jack rabbit can jump seven feet if he attempted to work us for a flat.

We are not alarmed about the future of America or Arizona, but we have no blood to shed. We simply propose to take care of ourselves during this scramble, and the galoot that picks us up for a free howler will put in the next ten years wondering how far he fell and what he struck on.

Touching the effect of our policy, we would invite the attention of people outside the territory to the extent and character of our advertising patronage. Our advertisers say what they mean in good, plain talk, and their announcements show the varied business interests of this town. Here are examples of some of the ads of our more enterprising business men:

NEW MILLINERY STORE!

Mrs. Poll Shoemaker, better known as Cross Eyed Poll, takes this method of informing the women of this town that she has opened her bang up new millinery store on Pawnee street, and is displaying the largest and best assortment of ever seen in Givendam Gulch or within 100 miles of it. Poll was an unbounded success as a Chicago actress, and she's going to make things hum in the millinery business or break a leg.

HATS AT $5, $10 AND $15,

and if you can duplicate 'em in Arizona, then you can say I'm not on the "dead" and don't know my biz. Look for the blue front store, next door to the Centiped saloon.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

G. OF M.—Meets Thursday evenings in its lodgerooms over Gilbert's store. The work at the next meeting will be the seventh degree of the grapevine twist on a one eyed man, and a high old time is expected.

SONS OF GUNS.—Meets every Thursday evening in the year in its lodgerooms over the bank. At the next meeting two candidates will be given the double flop, and a banquet will follow.

QUEER KUSSES.—Meets Wednesday evenings in the lodgerooms of the G. of M. The work at the next meeting will be the "hilarious bounce," and five candidates are expected to be on hand. If you belong to this order, you can travel all over Arizona and it won't cost you a cent.

BULLY BOYS.—Meets Tuesday evenings at its lodgerooms over the postoffice. No man with a wooden leg admitted. The object of this society is to secure free drinks for its members. Has over 100,000 members in the United States. Saves every member $50 yearly on his drinks.

THE ROYAL HOTEL.

Only swell hotel in Givendam Gulch! By putting four in a bed this hotel will accommodate 200 people. We use regular crockery in the dining room, and any one wishing a napkin can have it. Soap, water and towel in the room if desired. Beds made up once per day, same as in New York. You can sleep with your boots on or off, shoot at the lamps in the dining room, eat as much as you please and then lick the plate. The idea of the proprietor is to make you feel at home. The editor of The Kicker boards here. Terms, $3 per day and upward, according to the looks of the man.

THE BRUNSWICK.

This old and favorite resort for travelers who desire rest and refreshment is open again after extensive improvements, and we boldly declare it the peer of the finest hostelry in the world. It contains 24 rooms, which have been fitted up at an expense of $12 each, and over 60 people can find sleeping accommodations on the bar, the billiard tables and in the back yard in case of a rush.

The best of everything to eat, and no extra charge for meals sent to rooms or for shooting at the waiters. A cloth on every table, sheets on every bed and every room supplied with a pail of water and a box of matches.

The editor of The Kicker used to board here, but our fare was too rich for his blood.

THE KYOTE RESTAURANT.

This favorite old eating house, patronized by the editor of the Arizona Kicker and other tony critters for the last five years, is still doing a rushing business and is the only place in town where you can get a square meal for $1.

NO FORKS OR NAPKINS

and other toothsome meats, and you can eat as much as a grizzly and no one will hit you with a club. If our waiters are impudent or dilatory, stir them up with hot lead, but for God's sake don't shoot at the crockery till we get rich enough to buy more.

OUR TERMS ARE CASH,

and those who attempt to bilk us are buried in the sand lots just behind the house. Therefore come with the rhino unless you are tired of life.

BILL GREEN, Sole Proprietor.

DRUGGIST AND PHARMACIST.

Having been bulldozed by the editor of The Kicker into advertising in his paper, I hereby announce that I have the best general drug store in all Arizona.

TWENTY KINDS OF SOAP

to select from in case you happen to feel like taking a wash, and, as we are badly stuck on the toothbrushes we laid in a year ago, we have reduced the price to 10 cents each.

OUR NEW SODA FOUNTAIN

was all ready to fizz when a gang of the boys decided that we were putting on too much style and came in and shot all the faucets off. We have decided to let go of soda water, but we'll hand you out root beer and lemonade which will make your hair curl. Whisky by the drink, as usual, and shooting at the colored lights permitted after dark.

WE DON'T BELIEVE IN ADVERTISING,

but when a feller holds a gun under your nose what can you do about it? Sick or well, living or dead, give us a call, and we'll make it pay you.

We have lately added an extension to our bar, and 28 men can now stand up and drink at once. We permit pounding on the bar with the butt of a gun to attract attention, and all shooting scraps are slicked over and made as easy as possible.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Sunday school will be held after preaching next Sunday in Joe Taylor's cooper shop, and parents are assured that their children can attend in safety. All adults who attend will be asked to leave their guns at the door. The editor of The Kicker will tell the children the story of Moses in the bulrushes, and other eminent citizens will sing and help to make the meeting interesting.

THE G. G. L. S.

The regular monthly meeting of the Givendam Gulch Literary society will be held on Thursday afternoon at the abode of Mrs. Jefferson McCracken, the presidentess. Several interesting papers are to be read, and the question "Is Arizona Too Literary?" will be discussed.

TAXES! TAXES! TAXES!

All taxes in the town of Givendam Gulch are now due and must be paid to me in person. Ten days after the publication of this notice I shall be out hunting up delinquents, and the man who refuses to come down will have to dodge. I was elected to collect or shoot, and I am going to do it.

The Kiss I Didn't Get.

She gave consent and bent her head—
I thought her strangely kind—
With pouted lips, "Just one," she said,
And then—she changed her mind—
A woman's privilege. Ah, 'twas sad
To relinquish it. And yet
The sweetest kiss I ever had
Was that kiss I didn't get.

Then how she laughed—the dainty sprite—
And smoothed my scowling brow!
I played a churlish part that night—
I scarce forgive her now.
And yet 'twas better far, I'm sure,
Than if our lips had met,
For in remembrance will endure
That kiss I didn't get.

So 'tis with life—the aims we miss
Will shine forever bright
And leave a fragrance like the kiss
I failed to get that night.
Ah, years may come and years may go,
But ne'er shall I forget—
The sweetest kiss I'll ever know—
The kiss I didn't get.

2 O'CLOCK BUSINESS BOOM

The Republicans Now Let Go What Was Held Back.

MANY IDLE PLANTS START ON OLD ORDERS.

While Others Will Increase Working Force.

Cincinnati, Nov. 9.—Resumption of business and increase of working forces and of orders continue to be reported from all parts of this region.

In Cincinnati, Hall's Safe and Lock company, which has been working with reduced forces, has put on a full force, on a mass of conditional orders.

The Oscar Onke Picture Frame Moulding company will put on a full force, and work day and night, to fill an accumulation of conditioned orders.

Helming & McNamara will change from part time to full time in their shoe factory.

Laidlaw, Dunn & Gordan, pump manufacturers, will immediately put on a full force of employes.

At Ivorydale, Proctor & Gamble will greatly increase the number of their employes, in order to work the plant to its full capacity.

Warden reports, in a special to The Commercial Tribune, orders given for increasing the working force of the Warden city boiler works, to fill orders for a new grain elevator, the building of which was conditioned.

The Aetna Machinery company, Cleveland, announce that it will at once employ 110 men and open its factory. The Acme Machinery company's works, which have been working on part time, will be put on full time.

A Chattanooga special says one boiler firm of that city has just received orders for 500,000 feet of boiler tubing and for 500 tons of steel; that all the furnaces and rolling mills in that region have either resumed or are preparing for immediate resumption, and that the Chattanooga Brewing company have just contracted for a $20,000 addition to their bottling department.

Scarcity of Help.

Lyons, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The Manhattan silver plate factory, which has been running irregularly since January last, has commenced running at night, on account of large orders conditioned on the election result. The New Haven silver plate factory and A. H. Towar & Co. silver plate factory have both started up on full time. There is even a scarcity of employes at present. The Jacob Fisher pottery is now running full blast, for the first time in many months. Produce handlers are now able to secure money with which to move the big apple crop, which is estimated at three quarters of a million barrels. There has been an increase in farm produce prices also.

Putting Out Surplus Money.

Pittsburg, Nov. 9.—The Carnegie Steel company, limited, at its meeting resolved to proceed with the building of two additional blast furnaces. The total expenses at the works authorized exceed $1,250,000. It was also decided to push to rapid completion its new railroad to the lakes, requiring the expenditure of $2,500,000. Mr. Carnegie also accepted bids on Saturday for the erection of a new library and hall at Homestead, to cost $250,000. He said that he was certain the country was entering a period of great prosperity, and he was so certain of this that he was willing to spend his surplus.

Boom In Lumber Trade.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 9.—The result of the election is already felt in the lumber business. A. C. McLean, who operates a line of lumber lighters on the river, put on 125 more men Saturday, and wants as many more, but cannot obtain them. Wickes Bros., machine and boiler builders, have added 40 men to their force. The United States Graphite company of this city, whose mines are in Sonora, Mex., will, during the ensuing six months of dry season, take out the largest tonnage ever mined by the company.

The Boom In Iowa.

Kansas City, Nov. 9.—The Herrick Refrigerator company of Waterloo, Ia., has leased a manufactory here, and will immediately begin the production of refrigerators, butchers' coolers, counters and bank fixtures, hiring 100 men from the start. The lease was made conditional on the election of McKinley.

Work For Silver Miners.

Carson, Nev., Nov. 9.—A local paper states that one of the important silver mines in Nevada, the Cortez limited, after being closed some time, will at once open in full blast. Two hundred men have been engaged to commence work at once, and others later. This mine is strictly silver.

Work For Two Hundred.

Toledo, O., Nov. 9.—The Naumee Rolling Mill company increased its force by 200 men today. The sheet iron mills have been closed for several months. The men are high-priced, skilled workmen, and will go to work at the regular scale.

Reduction Restored.

Peoria, Ills., Nov. 9.—The American Glucose company has notified its workmen to report for duty Nov. 16, at which time a recent reduction of 10 per cent in wages will be restored.

"Great Assassin" Weakens.

Constantinople, Nov. 9.—The sultan has been much perturbed by the speech made by M. Hanotaux, the French minister of foreign affairs, and that it is on that account that he has granted concessions to M. Cambon, the French ambassador.

The Ambitious Kaiser.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—Under the command of Prince Henry of Prussia, a German squadron, composed of the Koenig Wilhelm, Sachsen, Wurtemberg and Gefion, will sail within a fortnight for Stockholm and Christiania. Prince Henry will have a long interview with King Oscar, and he has full powers from Emperor William to discuss the adhesion of Norway and Sweden to the dreibund.

BUT ONE SURVIVOR.

Six of the Crew of Schooner Waukesha Went Down In Lake Michigan.

Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 9.—The schooner Waukesha broke up while trying to ride out the gale at anchor near here, and only one survivor of her crew of seven has been rescued. He is still too weak to talk. The vessel had a load of salt and apples, which was taken on at Manistee Saturday morning. At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, she was sighted running with the gale with torn mainsail. An attempt was made to enter Muskegon harbor, but the schooner drifted a mile south of the piers, and then her anchor was dropped. She was riding three-quarters of a mile from shore at dark. The engineer and fireman of the city pumping station watched the lights until 9 o'clock at night, when they disappeared. Shortly afterward wreckage began coming in, and now nothing can be seen of the lost boat about the water where she anchored. All night long, the wreckage continued to come on the beach, and five bodies have been recovered. The names of the dead cannot be learned, as nothing about the clothing will identify them. The surviving sailor was washed ashore, unconscious, and nothing can be learned from him.

The Waukesha is one of the old fleet of the "canalers," and true to all tradition, she has taken almost the entire crew down with her in her last disaster. She was built in 1864, and had a valuation of $2500.

Duchess Was Indiscreet.

Paris, Nov. 9.—The sensational speech of the Duchess of Orleans (the Arch-Duchess Maria Dorothea) upon the occasion of her wedding, and when presented with a magnificent crown of diamonds by 25 ladies of the French legitimist aristocracy, has caused some stir in Paris. She hoped that "the crown will one day be placed upon the head of my dear Phillip," etc., and Emperor Francis Joseph has hastened to disavow the speech, though this does not prove that the story is not true. His majesty's disavowal being looked upon as only intended to be an apology to the French government by seeming to rebuke the duchess, who, it is added, acted without consulting him.

The Bicycle Industry Abroad.

London, Nov. 9.—The Investors' Review, this week, points out that 44 bicycle companies were floated during the past year, with a capital of nearly £14,500,000 ($72,500,000), and that out of the purchase price, £9,048,725 ($45,243,625), the vendors took over £8,000,000 ($40,000,000) in cash, showing, it is claimed, a decided preference for sovereigns over shares. The Review thinks this industry is overdone, and that American machines will eventually drive the high-priced British goods out of the market.

The Monroe Doctrine Again.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—A series of articles appearing in The Vossische Zeitung, understood to be written by a high foreign office official, is exciting general attention. The writer surveys the political prospects and resources of the West Indies and the status of the Monroe doctrine regarding them. He deprecates the right of the United States to interfere in the political affiliations of the West Indies, and speaks of the probable purchase of the Danish West Indies by Germany in the near future.

Corbett and Fitz Again.

Dallas, Nov. 9.—Dan Stuart has arrived in this city from California, after an absence of four months in the mining states and coast country. He says: "Corbett and Fitzsimmons will come together next year. I have found a place where the gladiators can meet and settle for all time which is the champion pugilist of the world. The fight will be pulled off in February or March, 1897, and it will be a fight to a finish."

Sanitarium Burned.

Hingham, Mass., Nov. 9.—The sanitarium of Dr. J. B. De Beer of Boston, consisting of a large two-story house and ell, was nearly gutted by fire early yesterday morning. The fire caught in the cellar. There were a number of patients in the building at the time, but all got out in safety. Loss, $12,000. A man named Ferris, who had assisted the firemen, fell off a high wall during the fire and was severely injured.

Not Very Cheering.

Jackson, O., Nov. 9.—All the coal mines here are idle. The miners are resisting the 45-cent rate, saying they can barely live in that region at the 61-cent rate. The men have been having less than half time for months, and are suffering now. The trouble is over the differentials of different districts in the state, and it is feared that the controversy will cause a general strike of many thousands of miners in Ohio.

Lynching on the Schedule.

Lebanon, Ky., Nov. 9.—William Bean, a negro, who assaulted Mrs. L. C. Clarke last Tuesday, was captured and put in jail here yesterday. While the sheriff was bringing him here a mob took him and carried him before Mrs. Clarke, who identified him. She is expected to die, but pleaded with the crowd to let the law take its course. The mob threatens to lynch him if Mrs. Clarke dies.

Two Dead and Three Dying.

Ashland, Pa., Nov. 9.—Two persons were killed and three fatally injured by the explosion of a boiler at the Centralia colliery. The injured men were taken to the miners' hospital. There are no hopes of their recovery, they being badly mangled and bruised.

No Faith In Pullman Town.

Paris, Nov. 9.—At a meeting of the Association of Civil Engineers of France an address was delivered by Ernest Hecht on the "Town of Pullman and the condition of the working classes in the United States." Mr. Hecht declared that the results of his inquiry, on the behalf of the government, show that the town of Pullman, Ill., must, from the workingman's point of view, be declared "a failure." Judging from the discussion which followed, this opinion was shared by many of the French engineers present.

Will Remember Armenia.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—The program of the 23d annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance union has been issued. The convention will last from Nov. 13 to 18. The annual address of President Frances E. Willard and the reports of the other general officers and of the superintendents will be heard on the opening day. On the afternoon of Sunday, Nov. 15, a grand Armenian mass meeting and memorial meeting will be held.

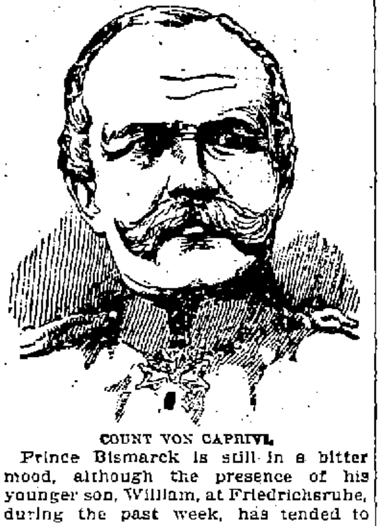
CAPRIVI IS SILENT

On the Matter of "Divulged" State Secrets.

A CLOSE WATCH KEPT ON BISMARCK'S MAIL.

Queer Story Claiming That Parnell Is Alive.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—The new revelations of the Hamburger Nachrichten continue to absorb a great deal of interest. The replies, appearing in The Reichsanzeiger, were the joint efforts of the chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, and the minister of foreign affairs, Baron Marschall von Bieberstein. The ex-chancellor, General Count von Caprivi, who remains in solitude on his estate near Skyrew, has repeatedly been urged by his friends to vindicate himself against the reproaches of the Hamburger Nachrichten; but, he has flatly refused to do so, and means to adhere to his reserved attitude.



COUNT VON CAPRIVI.

Prince Bismarck is still in a bitter mood, although the presence of his younger son, William, at Friedrichsruhe, during the past week, has tended to mollify him. Physically, Prince Bismarck is better just now than he has been for months past.

News received here from Friedrichsruhe and Hamburg, say that a strict surveillance is being maintained upon all of the prince's movements and the persons he receives; and, it is added, that even his correspondence is watched. This espionage, presumably, is at the instance of the government, and is being performed by a small corps of the best detectives from Berlin, under Lieutenant Bodmer of the political police.

The Hamburger Nachrichten in another article Saturday, said: Prince Bismarck's adversaries are the newspapers, more than the people. Former Liberals have been converted by the social, clerical and semi-official democracy, and the last named is the chief fomenter of hatred of Prince Bismarck.

It is learned that the replies of The Reichsanzeiger to the Hamburger Nachrichten were intended more for the benefit of the courts of Rome and Vienna than for Prince Bismarck. In both these quarters the wording of the exact terms of the Russo-German agreement, concluded by Prince Bismarck, is not known even now, and there is a very strong wish there to be fully informed on the subject. The German government maintains that it was secretly enjoined then, and that it is binding even today.

Extending American Trade.

London, Nov. 9.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg, with reference to the recent visit to the United States of Prince Khilkkoff, Russian minister of transportation, dwells upon the great increases of American trade with Russia. American locomotives are being imported, says the dispatch. Americans are building a locomotive works on the Volga, and are laying naphtha pipe lines in the south, while armor plates for the Russian admiralty are being made in the United States. It is the belief that the object of Prince Khilkoff's tour was to give the czar a report on American railways, which will be useful and instructive in the present active development of Russian railways.

Is Parnell Alive?

London, Nov. 9.—The Sunday Times says that a firm of London publishers wrote last week to Professor Haddon of Dublin anent the matter of preparing a life of Parnell. Professor Haddon replied, saying that a general belief exists that Parnell is alive, on an obscure ranch in a western state. The professor had approached the widow, mother and personal friends of Parnell, with a view of obtaining materials for a biographical sketch. Documents and statements concerning Mr. Parnell were refused, the reason being given, in confidence, that Parnell is still alive.

The Indian Famine.

Bombay, Nov. 9.—The viceroy of India, speaking at a banquet at Alwar, on the famine outlook, said that recent news from the Punjub and the northwest provinces were somewhat reassuring. The measures adopted in the northwest provinces had encouraged the people.

DOMESTIC MARTYRS.

Lots of women suffer constantly, and seldom utter complaint.

Good men rarely know the pain endured by the women of their own household, or the efforts they make to appear cheerful and happy when they ought to be in bed, their suffering is really so great.

Our habits of life and dress tell sadly upon women's delicate organizations.

They ought to be told just where the danger lies, for their whole future may depend upon that knowledge, and how to overcome it.

There is no need of our describing the experiences of such women here, they are too well known by those who have suffered, but we will impress upon every one that these are the never-failing symptoms of serious womb trouble, and unless relieved at once, a life will be forfeited.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound never fails to relieve the distressing troubles above referred to; it has held the faith of the women of America for twenty years.

It gives tone to the womb, strengthens the muscles, banishes backache and relieves all pains incident to women's diseases.

SOME CRISP GOSSIP.

On Wednesday Insurance Commissioner Merrill of Lawrence received from a prominent insurance official and personal friend in New York the following unique telegram: "No wonder you are getting well. This is a heap better place to live in than the country you contemplated visiting."—Lawrence Star.

The parade Saturday night surpassed that of Lawrence in numbers and general excellence, but for enthusiasm Lawrence was way ahead of Lowell.

One of the republican campaign companies had a transparency on which was a picture of a youngster with a large cranium devouring the inside pages of The Sun, and on the picture were the words, "Important If True." The Sun is important, for it is true that The Sun believes in teaching the young idea how to shoot, particularly when that young idea has a head full of brains. We thank whoever suggested the "adv." for us and had he put on the transparency, "Please mention when subscribing," we might have allowed him the usual commission.

She was from Nashua, and as the 20th Century Girls passed her on parade she exclaimed in tones of holy horror: "Look at them girls! I wouldn't do that for nothing," and a Liberty square wet goods man, who was standing near her, laughed.

The scent of the roses, as beautifully expressed by the poet, clings round the shattered vase and so the autumnal landscape retains its splendor of red and gold almost into the breath of winter when the snow king's icy hand shifts the kaleidoscope and presents another view of rare beauty. Those who have passed between Lowell and Lawrence within the past few fair days may have seen the last streaks of autumnal glory along the banks of the fair Merrimack.

Should it be decided that under the new city charter Mayor-elect Pearson or Mayor-elect Courtney, as the case may be, has full power to appoint the salaried officials of city hall, while the purchasing agent makes all big contracts, the city council man's occupation will be as that of Othello once upon a time, and as a result there will be less fighting for the election in the future.

EFFORT TO POISON

A Danvers Family Has a Narrow Escape.

POISON PUT IN TEA WITH MURDEROUS INTENT.

A Former Farm Hand Accused of the Crime.

Danvers, Masss., Nov. 9.—Some evil-minded person placed poison in the tea, served at the table of Albert F. Learoyd of this town, and four persons, who partook of the tea, barely escaped death. The act is supposed to have been committed by a hired man, who was discharged from Mr. Learoyd's employment for some unexplained reason. The names of the poisoned are: Albert F. Learoyd, Hardy Hall, Robert Hall and Jennie Jones. Mrs. Learoyd and a farmhand, named Conover, escaped any ill effects, as they did not drink any of the tea. The attempt at murder was the third within two weeks on the life of Mr. Learoyd. Two physicians worked over the poisoned persons for several hours, and fatal results were averted. William Kennedy, aged 26, a farmhand, formerly employed by Mr. Learoyd, was arrested last night on suspicion of connection with the case. Kennedy says he knows nothing of the poisoning. He was discharged by Mr. Learoyd several weeks ago, because of suspicion that he was mixed up in some domestic trouble in the family.

THE BIG JOLLIFICATION

OVER 3000 MEN SAID TO HAVE BEEN IN LINE.

A Fireworks Wagon Exploded But Did Little Harm—Companies in Line—The Transparencies Episodes of the Occasion.

The republicans enthused in grand style Saturday night.

For several hours the city was ablaze with red fire, sky rockets and roman candles and Japanese lanterns shed their deadened glimmer on the streets already bright with the glare of electrics.

Where the procession passed the noise was deafening and the crowd dense. On Merrimack and Central streets the people pressed into the road giving the paraders barely room to pass. Nearly everybody was shouting and fish horns were very much in evidence.

Some said there were 3000 men and boys in line, others placed the number at four thousand. They were all in a happy mood and most of them yelled and cheered from the start to the finish of the march. All the local campaign companies were out and with them were the Fusileers with "blow" torches and the Ramsdell guards of Nashua. One company of very small boys carried a large banner which proclaimed them the defenders of the country. There were other boys in line, some with black faces, others dressed as Uncle Sam, and many giving a grotesque imitation of the new woman. The corporations were well represented by their employes, many of whom are not yet naturalized, and the young ladies of the Shaw hosiery rode in a barge. The Boston & Maine employes carried a large illuminated gold bug and White Bros. had a float on which was a large gong which was kept sounding. On the side was an inscription "Bryan is not in the ring." Chelmsford had a gold club and a cavalry in line and for a reminder to the republicans in the 26th district who threw down Chelmsford in the representative convention they carried a transparency which read, "Chelmsford is still on earth."

Republicans evidently realize that The Sun is the only real democratic paper in the city for they advertised it extensively carrying no less than half a dozen transparencies one of which told of The Sun's enterprise in running off an extra edition to inform the people of the lates developments in the presidential contest. Six bands and fifteen drum corps, ranging in numerical size from one to twenty-five members furnished music.

Col. A. M. Chadwick was chief marshal and Lieut. Ames chief of staff. The aids included fifty prominent business men. Edward D. Holden was marshal of the second division and Henry K. Gates chief of staff.

The organizations in line were Boys in Blue, Knox Guards, Continentals, 20th Century Girls, Damson Gents, Ward 4 McKinley and Hobart club, Pillings Golden minstrels, Pine Hill Yacht club, Knox Gendarmes, McKinley and Hobart fusiliers, Ramsdell Guards and McKinley sailors, Young Men's Republican club, Workingmen's Protective club, Massachusetts mill employes, Chelmsford ideals, Boston & Maine company employes, Lowell Carpet company operatives, Pratt Bros.' employes, Howe lumber company employes, White Bros.' employes.

Following were some of the inscriptions in banners in the line: "Victorious in 1865, So We are Victorious in 1896." "Chelmsford is Still on Earth." "Not Politics but Patriotism." "Talk is Cheap but What We Want is Sensible Government." "Veto Cheap Foreign Manufactures." "In God We Trust, in Bryan We Bust." "The Flag of Free Trade is Turned to the Wall." "We Voted for Prosperity and Better Times." "You Can't Fool All the People, Bryan; see!" Bryan is Bright, So are the Voters, Biff!" Protection Favors Prosperity." "No Dollars Too Good for Us."

The route was through Thorndike, Fletcher, Pawtucket, Merrimack, East Merrimack, High, Sherman, Andover, Church, Central and Merrimack streets to John street, where the organizations were reviewed by the chief marshal and staff and dismissed.

F. G. MITCHELL & CO., ---- UP-TO-DATE BARGAIN GIVERS.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

"Our Boys" at the Savoy.

This great comedy will be presented tonight and all the week by the stock company at this cosy little play house. The play is one that pleases all who witness it, and is among the most popular ever written.

Its long run in London, the longest on record for any play, is surely enough to show its quality, and the manner of Mr. Weston's presentation of all his plays heretofore will vouch for the careful, conscientious staging which this piece will receive.

The members of the company all have parts to which they are peculiarly adapted. Miss Stahl plays the leading female role, "Mary;" Miss Knight plays the cousin "Violet," an heiress, and will wear some magnificent costumes; Miss Dickson makes her bow as "Aunt Clarissa; and Miss Knott plays "Belinda," a slave. Messrs. Burress and Alden are the two "Roman Fathers," and Messrs. Fleming and Wright "Our Boys." The whole play will be given in the most complete manner.

Last Saturday's matinee was crowded and was the last of the souvenirs on Saturdays. Hereafter they will be given Friday evenings to every lady in the house.

Music Hall.

Harry Montague, the well known and popular comedian, opens an engagement at Music hall this evening in that uproariously funny farce comedy, "My Uncle from New York." He brings with him a very clever company of artists, dancers, singers and comedians, who keep the fun going fast and furious from first to finish. The comedy is full of funny situations, new songs and up-to-date specialties, and it has made a hit wherever presented. Mr. Montague is no stranger to Lowell audiences, his good work in past seasons making him a prime favorite here. The company plays three nights and a matinee here.

Next Thursday Edward Hannaford in a fine Irish drama, "The Shamrock," will be the attraction at this house.

SOME QUEER ELECTION BETS.

A Man Got Half His Whiskers Off and Had to Go Home.

The election bets are not all yet paid. Men have been driven in barrows through the streets. One man rolled a peanut quite a distance and next Wednesday night a young man is to roll an empty flour barrel from Pawtucket bridge to the post office. Two men employed in one of the mills made a bet on the election the forfeit in one case being to cut off a handsome set of whiskers and in the other a luxuriant mustache. The man with the whiskers lost and came down town Saturday night to get off his whiskers. While he was in the barber's chair the parade came along and everybody got up to see it. As there was no room for the man who was being shaved to look from the window he went to the door with the whiskers cut off on one side. He watched the parade passing and when he returned the barber shop was closed. He went home with his bet half paid and has not been seen out since. It was supposed that his wife would finish the job.

Knocked Insensible.

Napoleon Dumas, a young man, was knocked down insensible in Merrimack street Saturday afternoon, by a passing team and the ambulance conveyed him to St. John's hospital. He recovered enough to be taken to his home on Moody street, yesterday. The injury is not dangerous.

NOT RECEIVING TODAY

Ladies Often Lose the Pleasure of Calls Because of Old Enemy, Backache.

"I should like to, but I'm miserable."

"It is impossible, my back aches so."

"One of the other ladies must take my place."

How often one hears these remarks.

Backache is an obstacle to many ladies.

Depriving them of much pleasure. A little information corrects this.

And Lowell ladies are well informed.
On the subject of backache.
They know it's kidney ache.
And they take Doan's Kidney Pills.
And then are ready for callers, always.
Mrs. Knowles, 46 Cross street, is one.
She has suffered much from it.
Pain through the kidneys.
Urinary trouble developed.
Dizziness, with severe headache.
All this took the enjoyment out of life.

She adds: "I saw in my paper that Doan's Kidney Pills were curing cases like mine and got a box at Ellingwood & Co.'s, Merrimack and Central streets. I had not taken many before there was quite an improvement. I got the second box, and now I can say my suffering has ceased. I am all right in every way. I do not hesitate to give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit of curing the kidney trouble and every pain connected with it. Who are They?

And now comes the claim from Lowell that at least one half of the holders of liquor licenses are practically insolvent, but there will be no danger whatever, that should the city vote another year in favor of the license system, there will not be plenty of persons willing to pay the fee demanded and run the risk of the much advertised insolvency.—Lawrence Star.

BEWARE OF THE BRIDGE

MOODY ST. BRIDGE HAUNTED BY TOUGH CHARACTERS.

Girls Warned Not to Promenade There at Night—Not Even by Moonlight.

The new Moody street bridge and its immediate vicinty is acquiring a reputation as a place favorable for the commission of lawless acts, and, it seems the Police Board should offer additional protection to people who have occasion to pass that way.

THE SUN has been informed that scarcely a night passes but some breach of the law is attempted. Hold-ups by highwaymen have been such common occurrences there that residents and others who have occasion to go out at night in that vicinity carry a lantern to light them through the dark and lonesome ways. And the law-breakers who infest this place are no easy lot. They generally time their work, and pursue their operations when they know the police officer is not near at hand. They are a bold, bad set; for failing to secure plunder from a person they hold up they have not the slightest hesitation to inflict bodily-punishment upon the victim.

Several young ladies in passing this place are subjected to insults and in one or two cases were fortunate in escaping with only those indignities.

Such a desperate gang will stop at nothing, and, hence girls especially are cautioned against accepting invitations to promenade in that direction by moonlight or worse still without moonlight.

Many people, especially women pass the place at night and travel over the new bridge, because they are unaware of the dangerous characters who lurk there. More police protection is needed and should be given at once or else have the bridge closed up, until such times as it is opened as a thoroughfare and properly lighted.

THREE FIRE ALARMS

Call Out the Firemen Saturday Night.

A slight fire in a closet in the Nesmith block on Merrimack street caused an alarm from box 113 about 8 o'clock Saturday night. It caught in a lot of old rags from spontaneous combustion and did little damage.

While the republican parade was halting in Liberty square a lot of red fire and other fireworks material on one of Hanson's large drays exploded causing great excitement and setting fire to the wagon. The fire department was called by telephone but not until the wagon had been rendered unfit for use.

The members of the Chapel hill hose company were called about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon to extinguish a burning building owned by Michael Garrity. It was set by some children.

Not a False Prophet.

The election is over and settled and we are glad of it. There has been a number of people that have been saying that if a certain political party was successful the people would be starving this winter, but if another party got elected that everything would be all right.

The proprietors of the Union market have always said that it made no difference with them who was elected, that they would continue to sell goods at the lowest prices of any meat and provision store in the city. Go there and get their prices.

MOST DASTARDLY ASSAULT

UPON AN OLD MAN BY A PARADER

On Saturday Night—An Ugly Wound Inflicted by a Blow of a Heavy Bell.

A cowardly case of assault upon a decrepit old man took away all credit from the republican demonstration in the minds of hundreds of people on Saturday night. It happened on Prescott street about 11.30 p. m., when hundreds were running and crowding to catch the cars for the suburbs. Among them was an aged man named Fox, residing in North Chelmsford, bent and feeble with age and afflicted with an infirmity which affects his sight. Being a loyal republican he came in to see the parade and with the others hustled to the best of his ability to get to his car. And in so doing he ran against or in the way of a parader who assaulted him in a most cowardly manner.

Whether Mr. Fox stepped on his assailant's feet or jostled him as he passed is not known. The fact is however, that this cowardly parader turned on the old man and struck him a savage blow with some kind of a bell, presumably a cowbell, just on the top of the nose, directly between the eyes, inflicting an ugly cut from which the blood streamed all over the face of the inoffensive old gentleman. The blow staggered Mr. Fox and for some time he didn't know what had happened him. Kind hands, however, assisted him to a drug store and after a time he was taken home.

His assailant started away but was caught by spectators and held for a few minutes, and then to the surprise of all was allowed to go, even by a police officer without being arrested. The only description that bystanders could give was that he wore the uniform of the Boys in Blue.

POLICE NOTES.

Considering the fact that there was a republican jollification Saturday night the number of drunks arrested, 25, is quite light. There were few cases other than drunks.

A drunk arrested by Officer Crowley Saturday said that his home was in Belfast, Ireland; that he lived in Edinburgh Square, had property in Skibbereen, owned a lot in London, and was a member of the Queen's Own. He had on a suit of underclothing, over which he wore overalls and a jumper, and over these he wore two complete suits of clothing. He insisted that he was arrested on suspicion of being drunk, and claimed that Officer Jack Crowley was the best man in the world.

It is said that Deputy Sheriffs Childs and Wardwell who had charge of the prisoners on the day that Fred McDonough escaped will be obliged to pay the cost of his recapture.

CHELMSFORD-GRANITEVILLE.

Business is Booming in Both of These Places.

The Abbot Woolen mills at Graniteville and Forge Village started up this morning on full time and with their full quota of operatives.

The scouring room in Moore's mills at North Chelmsford is running both day and night and there is talk among the villagers that Mr. Moore intends to make additions to his plant.

Police Court—Hadley J.

Judge Hadley and William J. Bryan agree on one point, namely: That the will of the people is law and must prevail. In sentencing John Fitzgerald to jail for four months for having obstructed an officer in the performance of his duty, His Honor said: "Police officers represent the law, the will of the people and through their instrumentality the law is enforced. As such they shall be respected and the sooner that certain portions of our population realize this the better for the community at large. Fitzgerald appealed.

Edward Latumble who was arrested while fighting was fined $10. Lawrence Martin received six months in jail. Michael Reddington received four months and appealed.

To Aid Countrymen.

Eighty-five Armenians held a meeting last night and raised $150 for the support of seven of their fellow countrymen who were concerned in the uprising in Constantinople when the Ottoman bank was threatened, and who are believed to be in South America.

Mr. Connolly's Record.

Mr. Editor:—I have just a word to say through your paper in reference to the action of Mr. Connolly. He has been a democrat, a populist and I believe a socialist. He was undoubtedly a Coxeyite in 1893 for he said that he was ready to join a party that would go to Washington to kill the rulers of the nation. That was anarchistic if anything could be so but Mr. Connolly probably did not mean what he said. He has tried all parties and has finally resolved to be with the winners, probably relying upon securing a suitable reward in due time. His efforts in McKinley's behalf will no doubt bring him recognition from the republican leaders. If not it is difficult to see what party Mr. Connolly will next attach himself to, it may be the socialist labor party. But I want to state that Mr. Connolly does not truly represent labor nor do I believe that he speaks his own convictions.

U. S. BATTLESHIP TEXAS

STUCK IN MUD AT ITS NEW YORK DOCK

Hole Thirteen Inches Stove in Its Side—The "Hoodoo" of the Navy—Divers' at Work on Her.

By Associated Press to the Sun.

New York, Nov. 9.—The U. S. battleship Texas lying at Cob dock, Brooklyn navy yard, this morning had a 13 inch hole stove in the side caused by breaking sea cock and she now lies at the bottom of the dock, and the engine room is full of water.

Three tugs were soon alongside Texas pumping the water out of her engine and boiler room. Capt Glass and officers refuse to talk of the accident. Commander Scared says she is resting easily on the muddy bottom. We have no apprehension of further damage. The principal loss will be through muddy water flooding the engine and machinery. We cannot determine exact cause of accident until the diver reports and the ship is repaired.

Boston, Nov. 9.—Word was received today that the New York police with Boston officers arrested Edward Records of this city this morning, president of the Mass. Car company charging fraudulent misrepresentation to Joseph Atkinson, Hallowell, Me., in exchange of bonds of the Northern railroad of New Brunswick of records of the car company. The amount involved is $33,333.

THE BABY SHOW.

The Prize Winners—Many Mothers Disappointed That Their Darlings Were Overlooked.

The baby show at Huntington hall Saturday attracted not less than 300 babies with their mothers. The sight was comical when some of the babies lost their mothers and were crying "mamma" as loud as they could bawl.

Capt. T. M. Shattuck and Mr. F. J. Schell were the judges and they found it a most difficult task to decide upon the charming little ones.

The prizes were awarded to the following:

Youngest babies present, Stella Noyes and Joseph F. Wesselle; best natured babies present, Adelbert Adams and Stella Fox; handsomest babies present, Ethel Codding and Harry Dawson; best twins, Albert and Albion Dawson. The diamond awarded to the most interesting baby present went to Hazel McDonald, who received 57 votes. The other prizes were silver mugs.

HIS FORMER ASSOCIATES

Present Lawyer Curtin With a Fine Desk.

William F. Curtin was the happy recipient today of an oak roll-top desk, which was presented to him by his former associates at the laboratory of C. I. Hood & Co.

Just after the close of business at Hood's laboratory this noon, Mr. Curtin responded to a telephone call and was escorted to the shipping room by Supt. Sturtevant, where there was gathered a large number of the employes. "Win" was at his best and in a few pleasing remarks, asked Mr. Curtin to accept the desk which at this time was uncovered and proved to be one of the choicest selections from the warerooms of the Derby Desk Co., of Boston, as an expression of good will and best wishes from his former associates and also to commemorate his admission as a member of the Middlesex bar.

"Billy," as he will always be known by his friends at Hood's and by many others, whether he is a lawyer or a judge, was equal to the occasion, and fittingly expressed his thanks to the donors for the valuable gift.

STRICT RULES READ.

To Boston Police Officers to Prevent Lounging.

The Boston police board has issued new orders for patrolmen which seem rather silly. Concerning them the Boston Post says:

"And while on duty no officer shall lounge or lean against a wall, telegraph pole, lamp post or building, nor shall he converse with anyone other than to answer pertinent questions, particularly with city officials or nurse girls."

Such was the order read at all stations at the six o'clock roll call of patrolmen last Saturday evening.

It is not probable that the Lowell police board will follow the Boston code so far as to copy this rule.

LOWELL I. B. BANQUET

DEDICATION OF THE HALL IN THE McCARTHY BUILDING.

A Postprandial Program of Musical and Literary Exercises With Speeches Upon the Society, Its Progress and Its Good Work, Present and Past.

The Lowell Irish Benevolent society dedicated its new hall in the McCarthy building on Palmer street, Saturday night, by a banquet followed by an entertainment and speeches.

President John J. Driscoll opened the exercises with a neat speech. He traced the prosperity of the society, showed the work it is doing and referred at some length to what it had done.

Vice President Reilly followed in a similar strain and gave reminiscenses of how the members enlisted when the call came for men to go the front in the civil war.

John Whitty related anecdotes of the early days of the society, giving an account of stirring events in war times and the bravery of Irish soldiers at home and abroad.

James Howard, the secretary of the society, served as toastmaster and filled the place with much efficiency.

Rev. Fr. Leonard was called upon and responded at some length, talking very interestingly upon adherence to right principles at all times in face of every difficulty.

Rev. Fr. Gleason representing Rev. Michael O'Brien, the spiritual director of the society, responded in a congratulatory strain, complimenting the society on its benevolent work, its fraternal good feeling and its good example.

Fr. Gleason expressed gratification at the grand success and prosperous career that this grand old organization has always enjoyed. He touched on their annual fete which was looked forward to every year by the Lynn as well as Lowell folk and congratulated the members on their union with both the people of the city and their church. No society can show the record of benevolent deeds and good works done by this organization during its noble career and although always loyal to their church the members were none the less loyal to their country as so well shown by the membership roll wherein appear many, many names that were prominently connected with the civil war.

In closing Fr. Gleason wished them many long years of success in the future, and hoped they would continue their good work.

John J. Hogan, Esq., being called upon dwelt upon the importance of young men taking up the work where their seniors have left it in order to perpetuate the work of the society. His remarks were loudly applauded. He also spoke for the city in the absence of Mayor Courtney.

Songs and recitations followed. Those who participated in the exercises being: James McManus, John Kennedy, Mr. McDermott, James Mulligan, Denis F. Regan, James Howard, T. H. Brennan, John Murphy and others.

Mr. Murphy is a member of the Burkes' glee club and has a strong baritone voice apparently capable of great development.

The committee in charge of the arrangements consisted of President Driscoll, James Howard, J. J. Grady, Denis F. Regan, John Whitty, Frank E. McNabb and James Hylan.

The hall is neat and cosy, consisting of an assembly hall with several committee rooms adjoining. The society has had quarters in the Burkes' building.

SACRED CONCERT

Held for the Humane Society Last Evening.

The sacred concert in aid of the Humane society at Music hall last evening drew a fair sized attendance who greatly enjoyed the fine program presented. The features of the entertainment were the singing of Miss Bessie Lee, Mr. Henry E. Jackson and Mr. Ollie Hall. The last named possesses a remarkably deep and powerful bass voice and his rendition of the celebrated ballad "Sweet Refrain" was excellent. Mr. Hall makes a hit wherever he goes with his sweet singing.

KENNEDY IS HELD

For Murdering Kimball on Danvers Farm.

BESIDES ATTEMPTING TO POISON A FAMILY.

Jealousy of Mrs. Learoyd the Motive.

By Associated Press to the Sun.

Danvers, Mass., Nov. 9.—William Kennedy, a farm hand, formerly employed by Albert F. Learoyd, is under arrest on suspicion of having been concerned in a poisoning case at Learoyd's farm last Friday, in which Mr. Learoyd and three other persons were made seriously ill by drinking tea, and was in court this morning. The solution was later found to contain rough on rats. Kennedy denies all knowledge of it, but the police have evidence to warrant their suspicion and also suspect him in connection with the mysterious death of Sylvester Kimball, foreman of Learoyd's farm, seven weeks ago.

Kimball is known to have advised Learoyd's attention to relations between Kennedy and Mrs. Learoyd. Kimball's body will be exhumed for analysis. Kennedy has served time for horse stealing.

Arraigned on the charge of attempting the poisoning of Learoyd, Kennedy pleaded not guilty and was held in $5000 for further hearing Monday.

LOCAL POLITICS

Statesmen Turn Attention to Municipal Election

GOSSIP ABOUT MAYOR'S POWER NEXT YEAR.

Candidates and Others—The Council and Mayoralty.

☞ ANY MAN pretending to be a democrat who, in public print or otherwise, opposes the election of a regular democratic nominee, or who repeatedly votes in the city council for republican candidates as against competent and worthy democrats, is a POLITICAL TRAITOR of the kind known in politics as A CUCKOO. No such man has any claim upon the democratic party for a nomination or election to any office.

Now that the national election is over the politicians turn their attention to municipal affairs. There are but few places open to democratic candidates in the city government so well have the republican gerrymandered the wards. The chief officials to be elected at large are the mayor and the purchasing agent, a new official provided for under the revised charter. There is nothing to prevent democrats from voting fairly upon these officials. There is no republican majority standing between the democratic party and success. The national and state election cannot be looked upon as showing the strength of the party because hundreds, aye thousands of democrats voted with the republicans under intimidation or the belief that by so voting they would best secure work during the winter.

They know that the corporations held back work, and kept mills idle when they could run them profitably, just as a means of coercing operatives into supporting the republican party.

There will be no such coercion in force at city election and nothing to prevent democrats from electing both the officials mentioned.

In order to succeed, the voters will have to attend the caucuses in full force, they will have to select a candidate who will receive his full party vote, and that means a candidate who at all times has been loyal to his party, one who has not in any case either publicly or privately opposed the democratic nominees in favor of republican nominees. To nominate a man who has been known repeatedly thus to betray his party will only bring defeat, because the democratic voters will not support him and they have no right to support him.

This is the only safe rule to follow in making nominations if the democratic party is to be held together as a party. Punish disloyalty, reward loyalty and party service and then no member of the cuckoo tribe will come around to seek election with the purpose of betraying those who elected him when once installed in office.

There is a big question to be settled in that controversy over the meaning of the city charter as to whether it gives the mayor the power of appointing all paid officials. If the republicans should elect a mayor they would claim that power for him, but if they fail they will claim that it belongs to the city council.

From the Mail we clip the following story giving inside facts of how western states were carried for McKinley as told by an American in London:

The St. James Budget published a letter from an American who declares that the true inwardness of the defeat of Mr. Bryan was the use of money to turn the farmer vote of the central west. The writer states that the insurance companies owning mortgages on farms in Iowa, Indiana, Illinois and neighboring states directed their agents to see every farmer whose lands were mortgaged and offer to them, if Mr. McKinley should be elected, a five years extension of the mortgages at a low rate of interest.

This plan succeeded and Mr. Bryan, who otherwise would have been elected, was defeated. Continuing, the American says that the loss of interest to the companies will be great, but that they expect to sell here a mass of depreciated securities on the boom from which London is benefiting.

Mr. Fred E. Haines, proprietor of the Middlesex Steam laundry, is a candidate for the republican nomination for the common council in Ward 1.

Arthur W. Laug of the firm of Boothby & Laug, is a candidate for the common council in Ward 8.

James L. Campbell, formerly editor of the Times, is receiving strong republican endorsement for the office of purchasing agent.

Councilman John E. Sullivan has decided to withdraw from the contest for the common council in Ward nine. He has served his party faithfully and only the republican majority in that ward prevents him from acceding to the requests of his friends to enter the fight.

"Bill" Hayes says it is preposterous to think that our people should for a moment suppose the amendment to the charter gives the mayor the right to autocratically appoint the heads of departments. Then William says that should any dispute arise, the people must not run to lawyers or courts for an interpretation of the law but should go to the legislature and "we will make short work of it." You bet you will, but it depends on whether we have a republican or democratic mayor as to what kind of a settlement will be made. Should a republican mayor be elected Mr. Hayes would soon change his tune. He would then hold that the charter gave His Honor the full power of appointment and that it was so intended by the legislature.

Councilmen Thornton and O'Hare, Michael E. Sullivan, John J. Rourke and John H. Sheehan are among the councilmanic candidates in Ward 5. Others will enter the race in a few days. Jeremiah McGlinchey, Owen E. Brennan and Daniel O'Brien would like to serve on the board of overseers of the poor. Up to date there is no opposition to Hugh Farley, who wants a re-election to the school board.

Thomas Higgins of Ward 2, who made a good run for the council last year, will try again this year and his friends look for his success this time.

The Lawrence Star comments thus on our new charter: "Lowell has adopted an amendment to its city charter giving somewhat larger powers to the mayor and providing for a department of public supplies. The taxpayers up there fondly anticipate that this will reduce the current expenditures of the city one third. Mistaken souls; they will learn by and by that a reduction in the expenses of any municipality are to be made by economy in management through good officials, and not to be brought about by a mere change in system.

On Nov. 19 the democratic caucuses will be held to choose delegates to the mayoralty convention. The voters will take care not to waste any votes upon any man who has been disloyal to the democratic party. The man who openly works for republican candidates in opposition to democratic nominees, deserves no preferment from democrats.

Democrats in your coming municipal election, give your support only to men who have stood by you and your party. Do not be misled into supporting a candidate of the genus cuckoo, no matter how much he may be disguised or how he may endeavor to cover up his treachery.

The only worthy candidates in the mayoralty contest on the democratic side are Mayor Courtney and Fisher H. Pearson. One of them will be nominated by the convention.

Mr. John J. Roarke, a popular resident of Lyon street, is a candidate for the common council on the democratic ticket in ward five.

On the street it is whispered that Thos. F. Connolly is slated for the position of state factory inspector.

Dr. John J. Savage, John F. Murphy, Hon. John E. Drury and James Bayles are mentioned as candidates for places on the board of health.

REPUBLICAN POLICIES OUTLINED.

The Middlesex republican club at its meeting in Boston Saturday afternoon gave the first outline of the policy to be followed by the Hanna-McKinley administration during the next four years.

The speakers were men who stand high in the councils of the republican party, Senator Lodge, ex-Gov. Boutwell, Attorney General Knowlton, Congressman Barrett and the recently "Generalized" George A. Marden.

The concensus of opinion as gathered from the addresses delivered seemed to favor the prompt passage of a new tariff law, the annexation of Hawaii, the recognition of Cuba's belligerency and the making all import duties payable in gold. Congressman Barrett made a very specific statement on the tariff question in claiming that republicans will not pass again the Dingley bill. They want something more substantial, something that will recoup the men who contributed so many millions of dollars for Hanna's campaign. Mr. Barrett also undertook to state that the republicans will pursue a firm and aggressive policy, one that will be strictly republican throughout and that will take no recognition of the democratic faction that joined the republican party in fighting for the gold standard. On this point Mr. Barrett made what might be considered a humiliating admission when he said:

"I think that if the government that is to come during the next four years shall pass laws and pursue policies which have their centre in Washington and nowhere else on earth and which are dictated simply to win the approval and the respect of the American people, we shall be successful in the political campaigns that are to follow.

This is virtually an admission that the policies of the republican party, especially on the monetary question, have centred outside the United States. By this he undoubtedly meant that our present monetary system has its centre in Lombard street, London. Mr. Barrett wants only republicans on guard and he is not in favor of recompensing gold democrats by places of power in lieu of what they have done for McKinley in the campaign.

This may have reference to the rumor that General Buckner is slated for a prominent position under the McKinley administration.

"Gen." Marden differed from some of the other speakers in his estimate of the "Americanism" which carried the election for McKinley. It had been stated that the republican victory was a great triumph for native or genuine Americans as opposed to the "riff-raff" of foreign nations.

Mr. Marden, however, pointed out that where the foreign element was strongest, as in Boston, Chicago and New York, the majorities for the republican ticket were largest, while the communities which had the largest percentage of native population went the most strongly for Bryan. This is a little discrepancy which the Middlesex club could have very easily explained as the natural result of an appeal to foreign nations opposed to a determination to act independently of foreign nations in conducting our national finances.

Senator Lodge was rather non-committal in regard to the policy to be followed by the party; but in common with the other speakers he insisted upon the expediency of retrieving all the doubtful states by placing them solidly in the republican column. To do this he will of course accept the proposition of Mark Hanna to maintain permanent republican headquarters and to keep up a continuous fight against free silver. Mr. Hanna has been out since election day consulting the millionaires of the country in regard to what they want and what policy they wish to be followed during the next four years. It is stated that although Hanna has been mentioned for secretary of the treasury, he will forego that honor and assume the more influential role of national boss of the republican party and of the whole United States. With Hanna as the guiding spirit of the administration, the trusts and the combines, the syndicates and the speculators will be well cared for and the only prosperity for which the people can hope will be that alone which will result from legislation designed to benefit the rich.

AN IMPENDING CRISIS

WE ARE ON THE EVE OF GREAT ECONOMIC REVOLUTION.

It Appears That the Seeds of Discontent With Unjust Conditions Have Taken Root—The "Silver Question" Is Trivial, but the Movement May Mean Much.

[Special Correspondence.]

I have just received a lengthy letter from an old coworker, who discusses the political situation as he sees it, and in addition to his ideas of the probable results of the election tells me frankly, as an old friend, what he believes the future has in store, especially for the workers. The writer of this letter has been for 25 years a firm and untiring champion of the cause of labor—a student as well as an active leader. He is also a painstaking statistician. The exercise of these qualities have, in my judgment, equipped him with the power to diagnose the economic condition of the people and to prophesy with reasonable certainty as to what the working classes may hope for in the future.

While the letter was not written for publication, I feel impelled to print a portion of it, trusting that my motives in so doing may not be misconstrued. I believe the workingmen of the country should know how the veteran workers and thinkers in the labor movement feel, and by withholding the name of my correspondent I protect him from notoriety, which he has not courted. I quote:

"We are living in a distinctly formative period, and nothing, in my judgment, can stop the impending crisis.

"Independent of the merits or demerits of the silver question, this is certainly one of the greatest campaigns you and I ever witnessed in the United States, and I am now fully convinced that we are standing on the eve of worldwide changes in our economic and industrial life. No matter whether Bryan is elected or not, we are approaching the rapids with a momentum that is startling. If Bryan is elected and the remonetization of silver is accomplished, we will perhaps find that it has not brought us all of the amelioration desired. But the spirit of the age, and particularly that of the silver movement, is not to go backward, to again adopt and wear the old clothes which we have discarded as the panacea. I imagine the word will be "Forward," and that new experiments will be tried. In other words, we will have the beginning of a political policy that, in some form or another, will mark a crusade against corporate and privileged wealth such as the world never saw. On the other hand, if McKinley is elected, I am sure that protection and maintenance of the gold standard will not bring this country prosperity, and, if they persist in continuing conditions just as they are, four years hence we will have the flood.

"The spirit of the age, particularly in the south and west, is not the spirit of slavish subjection, but it is the lofty and determined desire to reach out for a higher and better social life. It cannot be lulled to sleep.

"You and I have been sowing the seeds of a holy discontent for many years. We have told the workers that this earth and the fullness thereof is theirs. The signs of the times indicate that we have not sown in vain. Everywhere there is a quickening hope and thought for a better time. The line which divides the parasite from the producer is becoming more and more distinct, and as I observe the present disintegration, confusion and political acrimony my soul leaps with joy, because, no matter how dark and troublesome the times may be through which we are destined to pass, it is the precursor of a new birth, which, amid the darkness and storms, will herald in the new and better day.

"Whether you and I shall see it matters not. Our joy and thanksgiving should be in the consciousness of knowing that it is coming. It is because of this that I so ardently support the silver movement. I know there are some in our ranks who cavil about the silver question and say that it does not go far enough. They do not seem to realize that it is the movement and not the question which is cutting such a deep furrow. They forget that when the founders of the American republic, more than 100 years ago, began their colonial war against Great Britain they originally had no idea that the contest would lead to a severance from the mother country. They simply declared that taxation without representation was a tyranny and refused to submit any longer until this injustice was remedied. But, the contest begun, the logic of political events swept onward and ultimately dictated the Declaration of Independence, which severed the tie that bound the colonies to Great Britain and carved out of the western world the republic in which we live.

"Again, when the Republican party in 1860 nominated Abraham Lincoln and declared that the institution of slavery should not go beyond a certain geographical line, William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips and their colaborers did not take very kindly to a declaration which simply attempted to fence up and limit the iniquities of an institution that should have been boldly assailed as a matter of principle and its overthrow asked for unqualifiedly.

"But we know that the action of the Republican party at that time brought about the same political disintegration that is manfested today. It acted as a line of battle that separated the contestants. And when the civil war was precipitated, no thought on the part of the large mass of our people was entertained that the outcome of the war would be the overthrow of chattel slavery. Indeed, had such a proposition been broached by the officials of our government during the first year or so of the rebellion, thousands of Union soldiers would have abandoned the field and declined to risk their lives for the 'freeing of niggers.' But as the conflict continued the exigencies of the situation—yes, the logic of events—overpowered prejudice, and the emancipation of the negro was dictated as a military necessity. Is history to repeat itself?

"Who can tell but that today in this great country we are again standing on the eve of a political epoch the farreaching importance of which will transcend all of the political events of the past, and that the movement for the remonetization of silver, apparently so conservative and innocent, is but the precursor of a revolution in our economic and social life the magnitude of which is scarcely dreamed of by the most optimistic student of social problems?"

I have refrained during this campaign from writing for the labor press anything that could be construed as "political," and, as the people have been little interested in any other subject, that means that I have not written much during the past three months. I fully appreciate the fact that the evident partiality shown in the letter of my friend for one side in the present political controversy will expose me to the charge of insinuating "politics" into the labor press, but I ask all those who support the cause of the wageworker to wipe the dust of prejudice out of their eyes and look at the matter here presented as it bears upon the laborer without reference to any party or all parties. There is undoubtedly a crisis in our affairs. The future not only of the labor movement, but of the laborer himself, is in the balance, and the man who hesitates now to express his honest convictions, regardless of the side upon which he stands is not and never will be of much use in the struggle for the emancipation of the wage slave. Let us be open with each other, giving to all a fair hearing, and then making a decision —without dangerous delay—present a united front in the conflict which is on between the producers and their despoilers.

In this spirit, trying to serve this purpose to some slight degree, I ask a careful consideration of my friend's letter.

JOS. R. BUCHANAN.

Co-operating Against Sweatshops.

A new movement has started to combat the sweating system and the downward tendency of wages in the clothing trades. The Church Association For the Advancement of the Interests of Labor has held an investigation and embodied the result in a report to the Central Labor union. Bishop Potter is prominent in this work. The report says:

"In a recent investigation by a factory inspector a sweatshop room was found measuring 12 feet in width, 15 feet long and with a ceiling only 6 feet above the floor. In this room were employed four men, two boys (one 16 and the other 19) and three girls. The number was twice as large as the law allows in a room of these dimensions. With several machines and tables in the apartment, the workers were literally packed in, and some of them had to sit so close that they jostled each other as they worked."

The report said children recovering from scarlet fever had been employed to remove basting threads from garments afterward sold over the country. Smallpox patients had been found sleeping on piles of garments in sweatshops. The reason given for the downward tendency of wages was the increasing demand for cheap clothing.

Delegate Lawrence of the Clothing Cutters' union supplemented the report by a statement that the clothing trades were in a bad way. The Central Labor union decided to co-operate with the association.—New York News.

Bakeshop Legislation.

The most conspicuous feature of the movement in the baking trade this year and last, says John Schudel, assistant secretary of the Journeymen Bakers and Confectioners' International union, was the passage of laws for clean and sanitary bakeshops in the legislatures of five states—New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Maryland and Massachusetts. These laws, which are the fruit of persistent and intelligent agitation on the part of the Bakers' union, prescribe the height of the shop, good ventilation, etc., and limit the hours of work for the journeymen to 60 per week. The state of New York was the first to pass a bakeshop law, and this is mostly due to the exertion of the international secretary, Henry Weismann. This law, which was amended and improved this year, was passed in 1895. This success smoothed the road, and it was a comparatively easy task to have similar laws enacted in other states.

This Is Our Civilization.

It is a most remarkable fact—indeed, we may say unparalleled paradox—that in a country in which food is cheaper and more abundant than in any other country in the world, in which civilization is further advanced, and the comforts and luxuries of life more easily attained, there is a great and growing army of ablebodied, homeless, friendless, hungry men and a still greater number of destitute, dependent women and children.

There are hundreds of men in Chicago who have had nothing to eat today except what they have been able to cull from the refuse of restaurant tables or to pick out of garbage barrels. There are hundreds who tonight will find no better lodging than an empty boxcar on the lake front, a delivery wagon, an empty drygoods box or the shelter of a heap of rubbish.—Dr. J. H. Kellogg, Chicago.

How the Mohammedan Year Corresponds With Ours.

The Mohammedan year, as a lunar year, is shorter than ours by 10 days, 21 hours and 14 2-5 seconds. This renders an exact transfer of Mohammedan dates into dates of our own calendar a very difficult task. One calculation, which is easy and almost accurate, is to deduct 3 per cent from the given Mohammedan year and to add 622 to the sum thus obtained—e. g., our year 1862 A. D. corresponded to 1279 of the Hegira. If from this we deduct 3 per cent, or about 39, and add 622 to the result, we have the number 1862.

THE BIG ARIZONA KICKER

POLICY OF EDITOR AND SAMPLES OF HIS ADVERTISING.

Not Alarmed About the Future of America or Arizona—Under Certain Conditions the Editor Could Be Prevailed Upon to Bolt Any Candidate on Earth.

In reply to many letters and verbal queries we would say that The Kicker is not a redhot party organ. Nominally we are a Democrat. Nominally number two, we are a Republican. We hold the postmastership under a Democratic administration, and we desire to hang on to it. To most readers it may seem that our policy is a selfish one. We grant it. We are taking care of number one in politics as well as in business. The Arizona editor who blows his horn for the sake of party will carry more deadheads on his subscription books than dollars in his pocket. We want some of the spoils. We do not propose to help waft a lot of ambitious, selfish and half dishonest critters into office and then take off our hat and be thankful for what loose change they may toss us. We haven't said anything about bolting, but it may be inferred that we'd throw a candidate down quicker than a jack rabbit can jump seven feet if he attempted to work us for a flat.

We are not alarmed about the future of America or Arizona, but we have no blood to shed. We simply propose to take care of ourselves during this scramble, and the galoot that picks us up for a free howler will put in the next ten years wondering how far he fell and what he struck on.

Touching the effect of our policy, we would invite the attention of people outside the territory to the extent and character of our advertising patronage. Our advertisers say what they mean in good, plain talk, and their announcements show the varied business interests of this town. Here are examples of some of the ads. of our more enterprising business men:

The Kiss I Didn't Get.

She gave consent and bent her head—
I thought her strangely kind—
With pouted lips, "Just one," she said,
And then—she changed her mind—
A woman's privilege. Ah, 'twas sad
To relinquish it. And yet
The sweetest kiss I ever had
Was that kiss I didn't get.

Then how she laughed—the dainty sprite—
And smoothed my scowling brow!
I played a churlish part that night—
I scarce forgive her now.
And yet 'twas better far, I'm sure,
Than if our lips had met,
For in remembrance will endure
That kiss I didn't get.

So 'tis with life—the aims we miss
Will shine forever bright
And leave a fragrance like the kiss
I failed to get that night.
Ah, years may come and years may go,
But ne'er shall I forget—
The sweetest kiss I'll ever know—
The kiss I didn't get.

AFTER THE BATTLE ROYAL

Kentucky Said to Have Given McKinley a Plurality.

Senator Blackburn's Successor Will be a Republican—Mark Hanna Compliments the Gold Democrats for Carrying Indiana—Other Matters Political.

Louisville, Nov. 9.—The following telegram was sent yesterday by Samuel J. Roberts, chairman of the Republican state campaign committee, to M. A. Hanna, at New York: "Practically complete official returns make our majority 500 in Kentucky. We polled 40,000 more votes for McKinley that Governor Bradley received, but fusion and fraud almost robbed us of victory. We have been sleeping on our arms for a week, but are now out of danger."

Mr. Roberts also sent the following telegram to Mr. McKinley: "Kentucky, for the first time in its history, has been carried by the Republicans in a presidential year. After four days of anxious watching and waiting, the official returns show you have carried the state by about 500 plurality. Four years ago, Kentucky gave Cleveland 40,000 plurality, and cast 23,500 Populist votes. The fusion of Populists and Democrats this year was complete, and your victory means a reversal of 64,000 votes, based on the figures of 1892. On behalf of Kentucky Republicans and thousands of patriotic Democrats, who joined in our common cause, permit me to congratulate you on your great victory and the breaking of a time-honored record in Kentucky. As a former townsman and devoted admirer for 20 years, it is scarcely necessary to add my personal congratulations."

The following statement was given out last night from the Republican headquarters: Practically complete official returns give McKinley 444 plurality in Kentucky, unofficial advices indicating that the four missing counties will increase rather than decrease these figures. The Republicans elect four members of congress, and a judge of the highest court of the state for an eight-year term, and by the filling of vacancies have secured a majority of two in the general assembly on joint ballot, which insures a Republican successor to Senator Blackburn.

The total vote in the state will approximate 425,000, an increase of 70,000 over last year's vote, and 25,000 more than the highest estimate before the election. The Republican vote increased about 40,000 over Governor Bradley's vote a year ago, which was 17,000 higher than ever before cast in a presidential election, and the Democratic vote was 29,000 higher. These figures will give some idea of the intensity of the political struggle through which Kentucky just passed.

There is no longer any talk of the Republicans uniting with the Gold Democrats on Carlisle, Breckenridge or any other Democrat, to succeed Senator Blackburn. All negotiations and talk to this effect were based on the possibilities of another deadlock. Now that the Republicans are confident of a majority on joint ballot, they state that a Republican will be elected senator. Governor Bradley, Congressmen Hunter, St. John, Boyle and others are mentioned for the place.

THE "HONOR DEMOCRATS."

Not Likely to Be Soon Forgotten For Services They Rendered.

New York, Nov. 9.—Mark Hanna has given the following outline of what he understood to be President-elect McKinley's general policy:

"I have had but comparatively brief conversations with Major McKinley since his election. Next week I expect to meet him at Cleveland, and, as he has had time to think over matters, I presume he will have more details than I am at present aware of. But this much I know, he feels that he owes much to the patriotic Democrats, who prefer principle to strict party ties. Indiana, for instance, was unquestionably carried against fusion by Democratic votes. He recognizes the very great service performed by Democrats and independent newspapers during the campaign.

"Major McKinley will endeavor to see collected a great national party that will give prosperity to the country. He expects and hopes that men of all shades of former political belief will be united to this end. I have talked with some of the most influential of the old Democratic leaders, and I am glad to say they are in accord with Major McKinley's hopes.

"The first movement he will make will be to obtain sufficient revenue to conduct the government. Further issues of bonds would be altogether too dangerous. Business prosperity and stability demand that as soon as possible the government should be on a paying basis. To this end an extra session of congress will be necessary, and President McKinley will undoubtedly call one soon after his inauguration.

"Legislation will be required to secure the desired revenue, and Mr. McKinley will do everything in his power to secure it, as well as the legal establishment of a policy which will tend to put everybody at work. In all this he hopes, and expects that he will be backed by patriotic men, regardless of party lines. As for myself, I am not after any office, and will endeavor to attend to private business affairs, which need my personal supervision."

Mr. Hanna was asked what Democrats of note he had talked with on the subject of the future. "I do not wish to name them all," he said, "but I may mention Messrs. W. C. Whitney and Abram S. Hewitt, as examples."

Didn't Miss Church Services.

Canton, O., Nov. 9.—The opening of morning services in the First Methodist church yesterday found Major McKinley in his accustomed pew, with a number of friends. Last evening, Dr. Manchester, Major McKinley's pastor, in his prayer invoked divine blessings on the President of the United States and those elevated to exalted positions, and referring to the president-elect, in the congregation, invoked the blessings of providence upon him and those about to be called to council with him. Mrs. McKinley is feeling much better, and was able to go to dinner in the dining room with her husband and their guests. Congratulatory telegrams and letters continue to pour in upon the president-elect.

Hanna "Treats" Newspaper Men.

New York, Nov. 9.—Mark A. Hanna gave a dinner Saturday night to the newspaper men who had regularly "covered" national headquarters, either in New York or Chicago during the campaign. A little gold and silver ship was provided for each person present, as a souvenir. There was also presented to each of the guests a gold medal, the size of a 20-dollar piece, with the name of the recipient, and the fact that it was presented by the national committee inscribed on it, and also the words: "McKinley and Hobart, Sound Money and Protection."

Red Men Celebrated.

Pender, Neb., Nov. 9.—The Winnebago Indians in Thurston county have grown enthusiastic over the election returns, and revelled in a gorgeous feast and Indian dance on the reservation Saturday night. Many were in Pender, buying McKinley and Hobart buttons, to celebrate with. Colored banners, bearing the inscription "McKinley and Sound Money," were exhibited during the several dances to the tune of the tom-tom, in the hands of the dusky maidens. The feast and dance continued until the break of day.

Official Canvass Necessary.

Yankton, S. D., Nov. 9.—With the state complete, except Hamlin and McPherson counties, and unorganized counties in the Sioux reservation, Bryan has a plurality in South Dakota of 45. Hamlin and McPherson counties will give McKinley pluralities, while the reservation counties are expected to go for Bryan. It will take the official canvass to settle South Dakota's electoral vote.

Looks Like McKinley.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 9.—It is estimated that returns from 1200 voters are to be received from the Big Horn country. As this section is exclusively devoted to sheep raising, it is claimed by the Republicans that its returns will give the state to McKinley, without a doubt.

Nebraska's Cabinet Candidate

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 9.—The live-stock men of Omaha and Kansas City, and the west generally, have inaugurated a campaign to secure for "Farmer" Samuel Allerton the position of secretary of agriculture in Mr. McKinley's cabinet.

Talking of Retaliation.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—A book written by E. Von Halle, dedicated to the government, has been published. It surveys the importance of the American elections toward Germany, and assumes that a fairly prohibitive tariff will be passed by the next congress, and, in view of the fact that Germany, in 1895, imported American goods to the value of 511,000,000 marks, he proposes that early steps be taken to counteract the injury to German industry. He advocates denouncing the most favored nation clause, and passing a tariff paragraph, and also to try, in the main, to co-operate with the rest of Europe and take sweeping retaliatory measures against America. The government has taken notice of the book, and a score of copies have been bought for use in the different departments of the foreign office.

Four Days of Misery.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Seven men and one woman, composing the crew of the schooner Rising Star, after drifting in a helpless condition on a leaking vessel down storm-lashed Lake Michigan for four days, was towed into port by the steamer Colin Campbell. The schooner's crew had given up all hope, and, worn with fatigue and exposure to the icy blast, were clinging to the rigging when the Campbell sighted their signals of distress. The boat drifted helplessly out of the path of lake travel, and it was by mere chance that the Colin Campbell sighted the wreck. The members of the crew, although suffering terribly from cold and hunger, will recover.

Looks Like Prejudice.

London, Nov. 9.—The Daily Mail continues its interesting letters from the correspondent of that paper who is visiting various American states. It devotes the last letter to California, in connection with which, the correspondent says: "The people of the Pacific slope are living in a country that has very manifestly ways and a will of its own. They have adapted themselves and their environment to what it seems good to them to do, and that they do. With many of them, fancy goes no farther than wearing black shirts. With others, it takes stronger flights, and soars to clearing out banks and holding up mail coaches."

Italians' Awful Vengeance.

Huntingdon, Penn., Nov. 9.—During a drinking bout between Italians at Robertsdale, a mining town, Peter Venzelona was brutally murdered. His four slayers were lodged in jail here. The alleged murderers used iron pins and stones on their victim, whose head was literally beaten into a jelly. Jealousy over a girl is said to have promoted the crime.

BUSINESS BOOM

The Republicans Now Let Go What Was Held Back.

MANY IDLE PLANTS START ON OLD ORDERS.

While Others Will Increase Working Force.

Cincinnati, Nov. 9.—Resumption of business and increase of working forces and of orders continue to be reported from all parts of this region.

In Cincinnati, Hall's Safe and Lock company, which has been working with reduced forces, has put on a full force, on a mass of conditional orders.

The Oscar Onke Picture Frame Moulding company will put on a full force, and work day and night, to fill an accumulation of conditioned orders.

Helming & McNamara will change from part time to full time in their shoe factory.

Laidlaw, Dunn & Gordan, pump manufacturers, will immediately put on a full force of employes.

At Ivorydale, Proctor & Gamble will greatly increase the number of their employes, in order to work the plant to its full capacity.

Warden reports, in a special to The Commercial Tribune, orders given for increasing the working force of the Warden city boiler works, to fill orders for a new grain elevator, the building of which was conditioned.

The Aetna Machinery company, Cleveland, announce that it will at once employ 110 men and open its factory. The Acme Machinery company's works, which have been working on part time, will be put on full time.

A Chattanooga special says one boiler firm of that city has just received orders for 500,000 feet of boiler tubing and for 500 tons of steel; that all the furnaces and rolling mills in that region have either resumed or are preparing for immediate resumption, and that the Chattanooga Brewing company have just contracted for a $30,000 addition to their bottling department.

Scarcity of Help.

Lyons, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The Manhattan silver plate factory, which has been running irregularly since January last, has commenced running at night, on account of large orders conditioned on the election result. The New Haven silver plate factory and A. H. Towar & Co. silver plate factory have both started up on full time. There is even a scarcity of employes at present. The Jacob Fisher pottery is now running full blast, for the first time in many months. Produce handlers are now able to secure money with which to move the big apple crop, which is estimated at three quarters of a million barrels. There has been an increase in farm produce prices also.

Putting Out Surplus Money.

Pittsburg, Nov. 9.—The Carnegie Steel company, limited, at its meeting resolved to proceed with the building of two additional blast furnaces. The total expenses at the works authorized exceed $1,250,000. It was also decided to push to rapid completion its new railroad to the lakes, requiring the expenditure of $3,500,000. Mr. Carnegie also accepted bids on Saturday for the erection of a new library and hall at Homestead, to cost $250,000. He said that he was certain the country was entering a period of great prosperity, and he was so certain of this that he was willing to spend his surplus.

Boom In Lumber Trade.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 9.—The result of the election is already felt in the lumber business. A. C. McLean, who operates a line of lumber lighters on the river, put on 125 more men Saturday, and wants as many more, but cannot obtain them. Wickes Bros., machine and boiler builders, have added 40 men to their force. The United States Graphite company of this city, whose mines are in Sonora, Mex., will, during the ensuing six months of dry season, take out the largest tonnage ever mined by the company.

The Boom In Iowa.

Kansas City, Nov. 9.—The Herrick Refrigerator company of Waterloo, Ia., has leased a manufactory here, and will immediately begin the production of refrigerators, butchers' coolers, counters and bank fixtures, hiring 100 men from the start. The lease was made conditional on the election of McKinley.

Work For Silver Miners.

Carson, Nev., Nov. 9.—A local paper states that one of the important silver mines in Nevada, the Cortez limited, after being closed some time, will at once open in full blast. Two hundred men have been engaged to commence work at once, and others later. This mine is strictly silver.

Work For Two Hundred.

Toledo, O., Nov. 9.—The Naumee Rolling Mill company increased its force by 200 men today. The sheet iron mills have been closed for several months. The men are high-priced, skilled workmen, and will go to work at the regular scale.

Reduction Restored.

Peoria, Ills., Nov. 9.—The American Gluecose company has notified its workmen to report for duty Nov. 16, at which time a recent reduction of 10 per cent in wages will be restored.

"Great Assassin" Weakens.

Constantinople, Nov. 9.—The sultan has been much perturbed by the speech made by M. Hanotaux, the French minister of foreign affairs, and that it is on that account that he has granted concessions to M. Cambon, the French ambassador.

The Ambitious Kaiser.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—Under the command of Prince Henry of Prussia, a German squadron, composed of the Koenig Wilhelm, Sachsen, Wurtemberg and Gefion, will sail within a fortnight for Stockholm and Christiania. Prince Henry will have a long interview with King Oscar, and he has full powers from Emperor William to discuss the adhesion of Norway and Sweden to the dreibund.

Cabinet Crisis In Chili.

Santiago, Nov. 9.—The Chilian cabinet has resigned in consequence of the passage, through the chamber of deputies, of a vote of censure of the government. The crisis grew out of a disagreement between the cabinet and President Errazuriz over appointments to office made by members of the cabinet.

BUT ONE SURVIVOR.

Six of the Crew of Schooner Waukesha Went Down In Lake Michigan.

Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 9.—The schooner Waukesha broke up while trying to ride out the gale at anchor near here, and only one survivor of her crew of seven has been rescued. He is still too weak to talk. The vessel had a load of salt and apples, which was taken on at Manistee Saturday morning. At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, she was sighted running with the gale with torn mainsail. An attempt was made to enter Muskegon harbor, but the schooner drifted a mile south of the piers, and then her anchor was dropped. She was riding three-quarters of a mile from shore at dark. The engineer and fireman of the city pumping station watched the lights until 5 o'clock at night, when they disappeared. Shortly afterward wreckage began coming in, and now nothing can be seen of the lost boat about the water where she anchored. All night long, the wreckage continued to come on the beach, and five bodies have been recovered. The names of the dead cannot be learned, as nothing about the clothing will identify them. The surviving sailor was washed ashore, unconscious, and nothing can be learned from him.

The Waukesaha is one of the old fleet of the "canalers," and true to all tradition, she has taken almost the entire crew down with her in her last disaster. She was built in 1864, and had a valuation of $2500.

Duchess Was Indiscreet.

Paris, Nov. 9.—The sensational speech of the Duchess of Orleans (the Arch-Duchess Maria Dorothea) upon the occasion of her wedding, and when presented with a magnificent crown of diamonds by 25 ladies of the French legitimist aristocracy, has caused some stir in Paris. She hoped that "the crown will one day be placed upon the head of my dear Phillip," etc., and Emperor Francis Joseph has hastened to disavow the speech, though this does not prove that the story is not true. His majesty's disavowal being looked upon as only intended to be an apology to the French government by seeming to rebuke the duchess, who, it is added, acted without consulting him.

The Bicycle Industry Abroad.

London, Nov. 9.—The Investors' Review, this week, points out that 44 bicycle companies were floated during the past year, with a capital of nearly £14,500,000 ($72,500,000), and that out of the purchase price, £9,048,725 ($45,243,625), the vendors took over £8,000,000 ($40,000,000) in cash, showing, it is claimed, a decided preference for sovereigns over shares. The Review thinks this industry is overdone, and that American machines will eventually drive the high-priced British goods out of the market.

The Monroe Doctrine Again.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—A series of articles appearing in The Vossische Zeitung, understood to be written by a high foreign office official, is exciting general attention. The writer surveys the political prospects and resources of the West Indies and the status of the Monroe doctrine regarding them. He deprecates the right of the United States to interfere in the political affiliations of the West Indies, and speaks of the probable purchase of the Danish West Indies by Germany in the near future.

Corbett and Fitz Again.

Dallas, Nov. 9.—Dan Stuart has arrived in this city from California, after an absence of four months in the mining states and coast country. He says: "Corbett and Fitzsimmons will come together next year. I have found a place where the gladiators can meet and settle for all time which is the champion pugilist of the world. The fight will be pulled off in February or March, 1897, and it will be a fight to a finish."

Sanitarium Burned.

Hingham, Mass., Nov. 9.—The sanitarium of Dr. J. B. De Beer of Boston, consisting of a large two-story house and ell, was nearly gutted by fire early yesterday morning. The fire caught in the cellar. There were a number of patients in the building at the time, but all got out in safety. Loss, $12,000. A man named Ferris, who had assisted the firemen, fell off a high wall during the fire and was severely injured.

Not Very Cheering.

Jackson, O., Nov. 9.—All the coal mines here are idle. The miners are resisting the 45-cent rate, saying they can barely live in that region at the 51-cent rate. The men have been having less than half time for months, and are suffering now. The trouble is over the differentials of different districts in the state, and it is feared that the controversy will cause a general strike of many thousands of miners in Ohio.

Lynching on the Schedule.

Lebanon, Ky., Nov. 9.—William Bean, a negro, who assaulted Mrs. L. C. Clarke last Tuesday, was captured and put in jail here yesterday. While the sheriff was bringing him here a mob took him and carried him before Mrs. Clarke, who identified him. She is expected to die, but pleaded with the crowd to let the law take its course. The mob threatens to lynch him if Mrs. Clarke dies.

Two Dead and Three Dying.

Ashland, Pa., Nov. 9.—Two persons were killed and three fatally injured by the explosion of a boiler at the Centralia colliery. The injured men were taken to the miners' hospital. There are no hopes of their recovery, they being badly mangled and bruised.

No Faith In Pullman Town.

Paris, Nov. 9.—At a meeting of the Association of Civil Engineers of France an address was delivered by Ernest Hecht on the "Town of Pullman and the condition of the working classes in the United States." Mr. Hecht declared that the results of his inquiry, on the behalf of the government, show that the town of Pullman, Ill., must, from the workingman's point of view, be declared "a failure." Judging from the discussion which followed, this opinion was shared by many of the French engineers present.

Will Remember Armenia.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—The program of the 23d annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance union has been issued. The convention will last from Nov. 13 to 18. CAPRIVI IS SILENT

On the Matter of "Divulged" State Secrets.

A CLOSE WATCH KEPT ON BISMARCK'S MAIL.

Queer Story Claiming That Parnell is Alive.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—The new revelations of the Hamburger Nachrichten continue to absorb a great deal of interest. The replies, appearing in The Reichsanzeiger, were the joint efforts of the chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, and the minister of foreign affairs, Baron Marschall von Bierberstein. The ex-chancellor, General Count von Caprivi, who remains in solitude on his estate near Skyrew, has repeatedly been urged by his friends to vindicate himself against the reproaches of the Hamburger Nachrichten; but, he has flatly refused to do so, and means to adhere to his reserved attitude.

COUNT VON CAPRIVI.

Prince Bismarck is still in a bitter mood, although the presence of his younger son, William, at Friedrichsruhe, during the past week, has tended to mollify him. Physically, Prince Bismarck is better just now than he has been for months past.

News received here from Friedrichsruhe and Hamburg say that a strict surveillance is being maintained upon all of the prince's movements and the persons he receives, and, it is added, that even his correspondence is watched. This espionage, presumably, is at the instance of the government, and is being performed by a small corps of the best detectives from Berlin, under Lieutenant Bodmer of the political police.

The Hamburger Nachrichten in another article Saturday, said: Prince Bismarck's adversaries are the newspapers, more than the people. Former Liberals have been converted by the social, clerical and semi-official democracy, and the last named is the chief fomenter of hatred of Prince Bismarck.

It is learned that the replies of The Reichsanzeiger to the Hamburger Nachrichten were intended more for the benefit of the courts of Rome and Vienna than for Prince Bismarck. In both these quarters the wording of the exact terms of the Russo-German agreement, concluded by Prince Bismarck, is not known even now, and there is a very strong wish there to be fully informed on the subject. The German government maintains that it was secretly enjoined then, and that it is binding even today.

Extending American Trade.

London, Nov. 9.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg, with reference to the recent visit to the United States of Prince Khilkkoff, Russian minister of transportation, dwells upon the great increases of American trade with Russia. American locomotives are being imported, says the dispatch. Americans are building a locomotive works on the Volga, and are laying naphtha pipe lines in the south, while armor plates for the Russian navy are being made in the United States. It is the belief that the object of Prince Khilkoff's tour was to give the czar a report on American railways, which will be useful and instructive in the present active development of Russian railways.

Is Parnell Alive?

London, Nov. 9.—The Sunday Times says that a firm of London publishers wrote last week to Professor Haddon of Dublin anent the matter of preparing a life of Parnell. Professor Haddon replied, saying that a general belief exists that Parnell is alive, on an obscure ranch in a western state. The professor had approached the widow, mother and personal friends of Parnell, with a view of obtaining materials for a biographical sketch. Documents and statements concerning Mr. Parnell were refused, the reason being given, in confidence, that Parnell is still alive.

The Indian Famine.

Bombay, Nov. 9.—The viceroy of India, speaking at a banquet at Alwar, on the famine outlook, said that recent news from the Punjub and the northwest provinces were somewhat reassuring. The measures adopted in the northwest provinces had encouraged the people.

A VAUDEVILLE SYNDICATE.

Which Promises to Secure All the Best Talent in the Country.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—The details of the formation of a gigantic vaudeville syndicate were made public last night. Robert Biel, manager of the Schiller theater in this city, which has just returned from the east, where he has been engaged in the formation of the syndicate, said: "At Pittsburg, I met and drew up articles of agreement with Mr. Davis, who operates a number of theaters in and about that city, for a syndicate, to control and operate vaudeville houses in the cities of Baltimore, St. Louis and one other large city, which I am not yet at liberty to make public. A new amusement company was formed, and a site for a theater in St. Louis was secured, which will cost not less than $150,000. The theater in Baltimore is already built, and will be announced as soon as certain papers are signed. I have a similar understanding to pool interests in Gustav Walters' theaters at San Francisco and Los Angeles, as far as bookings are concerned. With the affiliations we already have with Keith houses in New York, Philadelphia and Boston, Pittsburg, Baltimore, St. Louis, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles will give us a circuit that will enable us either to bring our own attractions direct from Europe, or compel New York managers to book their stars with us. The syndicate has secured the best available talent at liberty in New York for the entire circuit, and has engaged the services of European agents in London, Paris and Berlin to look out for novelties.

DOMESTIC MARTYRS.

Lots of women suffer constantly, and seldom utter complaint.

Good men rarely know the pain endured by the women of their own household, or the efforts they make to appear cheerful and happy when they ought to be in bed, their suffering is really so great.

Our habits of life and dress tell sadly upon women's delicate organizations.

They ought to be told just where the danger lies, for their whole future may depend upon that knowledge, and how to overcome it.

There is no need of our describing the experiences of such women here, they are too well known by those who have suffered, but we will impress upon every one that these are the never-failing symptoms of serious womb trouble, and unless relieved at once, a life will be forfeited.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound never fails to relieve the distressing troubles above referred to; it has held the faith of the women of America for twenty years.

It gives tone to the womb, strengthens the muscles, banishes backache and relieves all pains incident to women's diseases.

Burglars in Chelmsford.

Late Saturday night or early Sunday morning the new general store of Eben T. Adams in the Old Fellows' building, Chelmsford, was forcibly entered by prying up a window in the basement. A lot of cigars were taken.

SOME CRISP GOSSIP.

On Wednesday Insurance Commissioner Merrill of Lawrence received from a prominent insurance official and personal friend in New York the following unique telegram: "No wonder you are getting well. This is a heap better place to live in than the country you contemplated visiting."—Lawrence Star.

The parade Saturday night surpassed that of Lawrence in numbers and general excellence, but for enthusiasm Lawrence was way ahead of Lowell.

One of the republican campaign companies had a transparency on which was a picture of a youngster with a large cranium devouring the inside pages of The Sun, and on the picture were the words, "Important If True." The Sun is important, for it is true that The Sun believes in teaching the young idea how to shoot, particularly when that young idea has a head full of brains. We thank whoever suggested the "adv." for us and had he put on the transparency, "Please mention when subscribing," we might have allowed him the usual commission.

Did your baby get a prize at the baby show Saturday? If he or she didn't it was a mistake, for yours was the prettiest, brightest and most interesting baby I've ever seen. Keep the change.

She was from Nashua, and as the 20th Century Girls passed her on parade she exclaimed in tones of holy horror: "Look at them girls! I wouldn't do that for nothing," and a Liberty square wet goods man, who was standing near her, laughed.

The scent of the roses, as beautifully expressed by the poet, clings round the shattered vase and so the autumnal landscape retains its splendor of red and gold almost into the breath of winter when the snow king's icy hand shifts the kaleidoscope and presents another view of rare beauty. Those who have passed between Lowell and Lawrence within the past few fair days may have seen the last streaks of autumnal glory along the banks of the fair Merrimack.

Should it be decided that under the new city charter Mayor-elect Pearson or Mayor-elect Courtney, as the case may be, has full power to appoint the salaried officials of city hall, while the purchasing agent makes all big contracts, the city council man's occupation will be as that of Othello once upon a time, and as a result there will be less fighting for the election in the future.

EFFORT TO POISON

A Danvers Family Has a Narrow Escape.

POISON PUT IN TEA WITH MURDEROUS INTENT.

A Former Farm Hand Accused of the Crime.

Danvers, Mass., Nov. 9.—Some evil-minded person placed poison in the tea, served at the table of Albert F. Learoyd of this town, and four persons, who partook of the tea, barely escaped death. The act is supposed to have been committed by a hired man, who was discharged from Mr. Learoyd's employment for some unexplained reason. The names of the poisoned are: Albert F. Learoyd, Hardy Hall, Robert Hall and Jennie Jones. Mrs. Learoyd and a farmhand, named Conover, escaped any ill effects, as they did not drink any of the tea. The attempt at murder was the third within two weeks on the life of Mr. Learoyd. Two physicians worked over the poisoned persons for several hours, and fatal results were averted. William Kennedy, aged 26, a farmhand, formerly employed by Mr. Learoyd, was arrested last night on suspicion of connection with the case. Kennedy says he knows nothing of the poisoning. He was discharged by Mr. Learoyd several weeks ago, because of suspicion that he was mixed up in some domestic trouble in the family.

THE BIG JOLLIFICATION

OVER 3000 MEN SAID TO HAVE BEEN IN LINE.

A Fireworks Wagon Exploded But Did Little Harm—Companies in Line—The Transparencies Episodes of the Occasion.

The republicans enthused in grand style Saturday night.

For several hours the city was ablaze with red fire, sky rockets and roman candles and Japanese lanterns shed their deadened glimmer on the streets already bright with the glare of electrics.

Where the procession passed the noise was deafening and the crowd dense. On Merrimack and Central streets the people pressed into the road giving the paraders barely room to pass. Nearly everybody was shouting and fish horns were very much in evidence.

Some said there were 3000 men and boys in line, others placed the number at four thousand, They were all in a happy mood and most of them yelled and cheered from the start to the finish of the march. All the local campaign companies were out and with them were the Fusileers with "blow" torches and the Ramsdell guards of Nashua. One company of very small boys carried a large banner which proclaimed them the defenders of the country. There were other boys in line, some with black faces, others dressed as Uncle Sam, and many giving a grotesque imitation of the new woman. The corporations were well represented by their employes, many of whom are not yet naturalized, and the young ladies of the Shaw hosiery rode in a barge. The Boston & Maine employes carried a large illuminated gold bug and White Bros. had a float on which was a large gong which was kept sounding. On the side was an inscription "Bryan is not in the ring." Chelmsford had a gold club and a cavalry in line and for a reminder to the republicans in the 26th district who threw down Chelmsford in the representative convention they carried a transparency which read, "Chelmsford is still on earth."

Republicans evidently realize that The Sun is the only real democratic paper in the city for they advertised it extensively carrying no less than half a dozen transparencies one of which told of The Sun's enterprise in running off an extra edition to inform the people of the lates developments in the presidential contest. Six bands and fifteen drum corps, ranging in numerical size from one to twenty-five members furnished music.

Col. A. M. Chadwick was chief marshal and Lieut. Ames chief of staff. The aids included fifty prominent business men. Edward D. Holden was marshal of the second division and Henry K. Gates chief of staff.

The organizations in line were Boys in Blue, Knox Guards, Continentals, 20th Century Girls, Damson Gents, Ward 4 McKinley and Hobart club, Pillings Golden minstrels, Pine Hill Yacht club, Knox Gendarmes, McKinley and Hobart fusiliers, Ramsdell Guards and McKinley sailors, Young Men's Republican club, Workingmen's Protective club, Massachusetts mill employes, Chelmsford ideals, Boston & Maine company employes, Lowell Carpet company operatives, Pratt Bros.' employes, Howe lumber company employes, White Bros.' employes.

Following were some of the inscriptions in banners in the line: "Victorious in 1865, So We are Victorious in 1896." "Chelmsford is Still on Earth." "Not Politics but Patriotism." "Talk is Cheap but What We Want is Sensible Government." "Veto Cheap Foreign Manufactures." "In God We Trust, in Bryan We Bust." "The Flag of Free Trade is Turned to the Wall." "We Voted for Prosperity and Better Times." "You Can't Fool All the People, Bryan; see!" "Bryan is Bright, So are the Voters, Biff!" "Protection Favors Prosperity." "No Dollars Too Good for Us."

The route was through Thorndike, Fletcher, Pawtucket, Merrimack, East Merrimack, High, Sherman, Andover, Church, Central and Merrimack streets to John street, where the organizations were reviewed by the chief marshal and staff and dismissed.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

"Our Boys" at the Savoy.

This great comedy will be presented tonight and all the week by the stock company at this cosy little play house. The play is one that pleases all who witness it, and is among the most popular ever written.

Its long run in London, the longest on record for any play, is surely enough to show its quality, and the manner of Mr. Weston's presentation of all his plays heretofore will vouch for the careful, conscientious staging which this piece will receive.

The members of the company all have parts to which they are peculiarly adapted. Miss Stahl plays the leading female role, "Mary;" Miss Knight plays the cousin "Violet," an heiress, and will wear some magnificent costumes; Miss Dickson makes her bow as "Aunt Clarissa; and Miss Knott plays "Belinda," a slave. Messrs. Burross and Alden are the two "Roman Fathers," and Messrs. Fleming and Wright "Our Boys." The whole play will be given in the most complete manner.

Last Saturday's matinee was crowded and was the last of the souvenirs on Saturdays. Hereafter they will be given Friday evenings to every lady in the house.

Music Hall.

Harry Montague, the well known and popular comedian, opens an engagement at Music hall this evening in that uproariously funny farce comedy, "My Uncle from New York." He brings with him a very clever company of artists, dancers, singers and comedians, who keep the fun going fast and furious from first to finish. The comedy is full of funny situations, new songs and up-to-date specialties, and it has made a hit wherever presented. Mr. Montague is no stranger to Lowell audiences, his good work in past seasons making him a prime favorite here. The company plays three nights and a matinee here.

Next Thursday Edward Hannaford in a fine Irish drama, "The Shamrock," will be the attraction at this house.

SOME QUEER ELECTION BETS.

A Man Got Half His Whiskers Off and Had to Go Home.

The election bets are not all yet paid. Men have been driven in barrows through the streets. One man rolled a peanut quite a distance and next Wednesday night a young man is to roll an empty flour barrel from Pawtucket bridge to the post office. Two men employed in one of the mills made a bet on the election the forfeit in one case being to cut off a handsome set of whiskers and in the other a luxuriant mustache. The man with the whiskers lost and came down town Saturday night to get off his whiskers. While he was in the barber's chair the parade came along and everybody got up to see it. As there was no room for the man who was being shaved to look from the window he went to the door with the whiskers cut off on one side. He watched the parade passing and when he returned the barber shop was closed. He went home with his bet half paid and has not been seen out since. It was supposed that his wife would finish the job.

Knocked Insensible.

Napoleon Dumas, a young man, was knocked down insensible in Merrimack street Saturday afternoon, by a passing team and the ambulance conveyed him to St. John's hospital. He recovered enough to be taken to his home on Moody street, yesterday. The injury is not dangerous.
